COX'S SPEECH TO ANSWER HARDING

Governor Finally Completes His Acceptance Address.

DAYTON.—Governor James M. Cox Saturday finally completed his speech, accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

The address which is expected to reveal what issues will be stressed by the Democrats in the coming campaign will be delivered by Cox at the state grounds here next Saturday afternoon in response to the official message of notification by Senator Joseph T. Robinson, permanent chairman of the San Francisco convention.

The only feature of the speech that can be revealed is that Cox, although a newspaper publisher himself, apparently believes the shortage of print paper has ended. It took him approximately 10,000 words to "cover" his biggest story.

Cox made the last correction in the typewritten draft of the speech about 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. It was rushed immediately to the nominee's newspaper office, where several typewriters were put to work on it, in order that advance copies may reach newspapers in all parts of the country by mail before next Saturday.

Long after midnight Friday night the governor was working on the speech and then was up early Saturday morning to put on the finishing touches. Virtually all of it was dictated to his private secretary, after which Cox wrote in the last-minute changes.

One section of the speech, which will be about 100 words in length, will be withheld by Cox until the morning of notification day. Just what this will deal with has not been revealed.

ANSWER TO HARDING

The governor said Saturday night that he would not answer questions fired at him by Senator Harding until after the notification message is delivered.

However, I believe the senator will find that most of his questions are answered in the notification speech," he said.

Short conferences were held Saturday by Cox with professor Irving Fisher of Yale University and Secretary Van Dyke of the Pennsylvania state Democratic central committee. Fisher explained his plan of preventing decreases in the purchasing power of money by increasing the amount of gold and silver in coins when unusual conditions arise, such as during the war.

Van Dyke's visit was to obtain the nominee's formal approval for the Democratic electors in his state as required by law.

Cox spent the afternoon on a golf link, relaxing from the strain of this week's work. Sunday he plans to attend the Episcopal Church and spend the rest of the day quietly in his suburban home. He probably will remain here until after notification day, as plans are to send state executive matters to his home.

BIG CONTRACT IS AWARDED GREEN

Garford Office Building, Costing $250,000, to Be Started.

Contract for the erection of an office building to cost $250,000 has been awarded by the Garford Motor Truck company to Ora M. Green and company. Work will be started on the structure this week, the excavation already having been completed by Green.

This building will be 100 by 154 feet, two stories and basement and will house the entire administrative department of the big truck concern. It will be of reinforced concrete.

The new office building is a part of the extensive building program the company is carrying out. Green now has under construction a factory building 100 by 40 feet, one story with basement under the entire structure. The entire program which the company has under way and which is being handled by Green, will cost approximately $600,000, it is said.

A loading dock along the belt line 60x120 feet is under way.

LIMA MAN IS HELD IN CHICAGO ON THEFT CHARGE

CHICAGO.—Four sailors from the Great Lakes naval training station and two boys who were discharged from the school a week ago were brought here Saturday from LaPorte, Ind., where they were arrested on charges of stealing an automobile from Grant Park, Chicago. The boys, all of whom were in uniform, are:

Vinor Neff, 20, of Cincinnati; Louis E. Crane, 18, Salt Lake City; Clarence Warner, 16, New Haven; and Raymond Jordan, 17, Altan.

Jordan, Michael, 20, Number 521 E. Main-st., Lima, Ohio, and Charles Wagner, Tonkers, N. Y.

OHIO GIRL SHOT, DENTIST DIES

Toledo Man's Wife Reported Involved In New York Tragedy—Wealthy Doctor Is Killed In Fight In 'Fashionable Apartment'

NEW YORK.—Police Saturday night awaited return to consciousness of Mrs. Elmer Schultz, said to be the wife of a Toledo, Ohio, automobile salesman, to delve further into the mystery surrounding the killing of Dr. Jose Arenas, a wealthy bachelor dentist of Bogota, Colombia.

Arenas was found shot to death in his apartment in fashionable West Seventieth-st.

RED ARMY DRAWS NEAR WARSAW

Allies Reorganizing Forces as Bolsheviks Continue War.

LONDON.—England and France Saturday night looked uneasily toward the east and waited for the word which would tell whether the Bolsheviks had halted their victorious drive against the Poles. The armistice negotiations were to have started Saturday. Fragments of reports, however, told of more fighting. It was believed that later dispatches would bring word of cessation of hostilities.

SWEET TOWARD WARSAW

The Bolshevik official communiqué sent out from Moscow by radio and picked up here shortly after 3 p. m., announced the reds had taken Bialystok, a town 100 miles east of Warsaw. The Polish armistice delegation, according to diplomatic sources, left Warsaw for Brest Litovsk Friday night to parley with the Bolshevik delegates.

There was an unofficial report that the reds had taken Iwona, within 80 miles of Warsaw, and word came from Warsaw that they were reported to have invaded Galicia, north of Brody, which the Poles evacuated. Abandonment of Lemberg was inevitable, the dispatch said, unless reinforcements arrived.

REORGANIZING ARMY

In spite of the prospects of an armistice the French foreign office, according to a message received here Saturday, has been advised that the Poles are doing everything possible to strengthen their lines in anticipation of renewed Bolshevik assaults. French and British officers are practically reorganizing the army.

Berlin dispatch said demoralized Poles had fled across the German border and had been interned, also that many Polish families were seeking refuge in Berlin, Dresden and other German cities.

Some officials here doubted whether War Minister Trotsky could halt the Bolshevik offensive at will. Relations between great headquarters in the field and the seat of government at Moscow were said to be severely strained, with some general ready to attempt a military coup d'état against Lenin and Trotsky.

Fifteen Murderers In Chicago Jail to Die Oct. 14-15

CHICAGO.—Fifteen murderers, doomed to die on the gallows, were in the county jail here Saturday night, waiting out the death watch.

Eight will play leading parts in the hanging carnival here October 14. Only the intervention of the governor or supreme court will interfere with the meeting out of sudden death in return for sudden death. Seven more are scheduled to drop thru the gallows trap October 15.

The Chicago crime commission said Saturday night that this wholesale use of noose is result of a campaign to halt the series of Chicago murders that averaged one a day for two years.

THEFT OF AUTOMOBILE IS CHARGED—MAN IS HELD

Forty-five minutes after word was received by the police department that a touring car had been stolen from Van Wert, Saturday night, Richard Holden, 24, machinist, Van Wert, was safely lodged in the Lima city prison, charged with theft of the car. Holden was picked up by Plainclothesmen Kipker and Cisenberry at Main and North-sts in a car answering the description and bearing the number of the stolen car.

He admitted when brought to the police station that he had driven the car from Van Wert, police said.

CLEVELAND DETECTIVE CHARGED WITH MURDER

CLEVELAND.—Detective Charles Gallagher was booked on a charge of second degree murder here Saturday for shooting and killing Andrew Lebohn, soft drink proprietor, Friday night. The officer said he shot Lebohn when the man rushed at him with a threat to "beat me up."

When Gallagher was booked on the charge of murder, Prosecutor Stanton said it was decided at a police conference that Gallagher "did not have sufficient cause for the shooting." The officer's bond was fixed at $10,000.

AIRPLANES PILOT HARDING PARTY

Nominee Opens Porch Campaign to Richland Delegation.

WOULD LEVEL THE CLASSES

Declares Breaking Sectional Barriers Great Present Demand.

MARION.—In the opening speech of his front porch campaign Senator Harding told a delegation from Richland-co., Ohio, Saturday that the greatest usefulness of the nation demanded a leveling of class and sectional barriers and a realization of the "interdependence and mutuality of interest of all our people."

The great war, he said, had helped toward such a realization, for there were many ways by which in peace time the rule of "communiting friendship" and equal opportunity could be encouraged. Close co-operation in industry and complete assimilation of the foreign born was suggested as pointing the way to a fuller national accord.

The first of the many groups of voters that are to come here during the summer on similar missions, the delegation marched on the Harding residence with flags and banners flying and with bands sounding a sonorous message of greeting. As on notification day a week ago, Marion was in holiday dress and spirit to welcome them.

Two airplanes were pilots of the pilgrimage here. C. W. Hanes, vice-president of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce, was chosen the advance scout to fly over Marion early in the day and shower the city with Harding and Coolidge souvenirs, and Mrs. Gordon A. Farrow, vice president of the Mansfield Aero Club, was accepted the distinction of carrying from the air the first of the front porch delegations.

Urging a readjustment of taxation, he expressed doubt whether the wartime excess profits levy was in harmony with peace requirements, but added he had not yet worked out the details of a revised tax system.

"We ought to make wealth bear its full share of taxation," he said, "and we will. Having this thought in mind and also thinking of the excessive cost of living I doubt if the excess profits tax for war precisely accomplishes the end we seek in peace. I would gladly recommend a change, but I am not yet prepared to suggest an equitable substitute, tho I should have no hesitancy in asking congress to seek the earliest possible solution."

REAL THINGS IN LIFE

The league of nations he did not refer to directly, but he declared the nation's highest duty is to cling to the fundamentals on which we build to world astonishment and hold fast to the nationality which inspired that onward march.

"It is with a keen sense of delight that I welcome your visit to-day," said Senator Harding. "I am pleased that you come, not only as Republicans, but as neighbors and friends. We need to cultivate friendliness and neighborliness. I sometimes think in this busy, workaday world, we are neglecting those little acts of neighborliness that make life sweet and worth while. It is well enough for one to strive to get ahead in a material sense for that ambition human progress is wrought. To acquire and accumulate honestly is most laudable, but we should not forget that life's greatest joys lie on the social course of friends and neighbors. Out of such relations grow mutual respect, mutual sympathy and mutual interest, without which life holds little of real enjoyment."

"I feel myself as a part of Richland county. Our people, early in the last century, settled in a section that was bounded by richland and Crawford counties, and my earliest recollections are of grists taken to Lexington for grinding. I recall distinctly of my great-grandmother, who related to me how she had often gone with her bag of wheat on horseback, while the men were busy in the fields, and the cries of the wolves were a frequent accompaniment to the weary homeward journey. That was in the days when heroes were without fame's acclaim; when a sturdy manhood and womanhood were beaming with the wisdom to reveal Ohio to the star of empire, westward marching."

TRIBUTE TO SHERMAN

"Sometimes I am accused of living in the past. But, frankly, I find the story of their making of Ohio very fascinating, and I drink new inspiration in recalling the paths they trod, and the works they wrought. America has its lessons, and emphasizes our resolution to hold fast to all the advancement they made, and go on securely toward all we hope to be."

"Having prospered materially, your country has been likewise fortunate in the quality of its people. From among whom many notable men to write their names upon the imperishable tablets of the nation's history."

"I could multiply examples of your fellow citizens worthy of mention did the time permit. But I should fail utterly in my duty to his memory did I not mention that"

OHIO G. O. P. RACE LOOKS CLOSE

Neck and Neck in Contest for Governor as Primary Nears.

COLUMBUS.—Interest in the August Primary race continued to center in the Republican contest for nomination for governor, as the primary candidates Saturday "got set" for swinging into the final lap of the drive.

Neither of the principal gubernatorial contenders—Raiph D. Cole, Roscoe D. McCulluch, Harry L. Davis—appeared to have very decided edges on the race, now that there is only one week's campaigning yet to be done.

With the primary, only ten days distant, he generally conceded that Cole and Davis have maintained the advantage that might accrue from securing the greatest amount of publicity, as both have been much more in the limelight than McCulluch during the campaign.

Backers of the Canton congressman, however, are asserting that the publicity "advantage" will not be a real factor and that they have been and still are getting the results without making much noise.

Democratic candidates continue to create little noise in the primary race, their position being kept in the presidential background because of the more numerous and more spirited contests among the G. O. P. aspirants.

BOLT KILLS CHILD

Boy at Licking-Co Home Struck While at Play

NEWARK, O.—(By Associated Press).—Carl J. Rowe, 15, an inmate of the Licking county children's home, was instantly killed Saturday morning when struck by lightning while in the garden at the home. The bolt was the only lightning seen during the storm which lasted but a few moments. Authorities at the home are withholding information as to the present whereabouts of the boy's mother, Mrs. John E. Schimpf, who placed the boy and a sister in the home a year ago. She was remarried three months ago and has disappeared. The boy's father is dead.

50 Girls Entertained By Jeweler, Slain In Chicago

CHICAGO.—The amazing amour of Samuel T. A. Lottis, millionaire diamond dealer, who was found dead in his home here Friday night, were being unfolded by the police and coroner's officials Saturday night.

"Fifty different girls were entertained in his apartment since last January," Miss Hulda Johnson, his housekeeper, told the authorities.

The girls he took there, he usually "picked up" either at the Edgewater Beach Hotel or the Green Mill Gardens.

Miss Ruth Woods, cashier at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, who was with Lottis when he died, and her fiancée, Roy M. Shayne, son of the late John T. Shayne, a millionaire, were still held as witnesses. According to the police, the girl was still too greatly affected by fright and intoxicants to tell a connected story.

BOOST FOR RAILS ADDS $3,000,000,000 TO THE NATION'S COMMODITY PRICES

SUMMARY OF RATE INCREASE

The interstate commerce commission Saturday granted these increases in railroad rates:

Freight rates:—Eastern territory 40 percent; western territory 35 percent; southern territory 25 percent.

Passenger rates:—All lines including interurban, 20 percent.

Pullman rates:—A 50 percent surcharge to go to the railroad and not to the Pullman company.

The estimated total increase is $1,500,000,000. This will mean $3,000,000,000 added to commodity prices generally, according to principles involved.

The rates are effective five days after the roads have filed a report with the commission until March 31, 1922.

OHIO ELECTRIC WILL PROFIT LITTLE FROM RAILROAD AWARD

New Rate Schedule Will Be Filed Soon with Commission, Dugan Says.

The Ohio Electric Railway will not be benefitted appreciably by the $1,500,000,000 increase granted steam and electric railroads on both freight and passenger rates by a decision of the interstate commerce commission handed down late Saturday, Resident Manager J. B. Dugan declared Saturday night.

"Not being thoroughly familiar with the Zach Cummins bill," Dugan said, "I cannot say definitely what the effect will be, but in my opinion the only benefit the Ohio Electric will receive will be on interstate business. This is a very small percentage of the total business of the company, being only on the P. Wayne division and the line running from Dayton to Union City, Ind."

Dugan said probably the greatest benefit to the O. E. would be in the increased rates in freight carried from Toledo to points in Indiana.

Dugan said the position of the Ohio Electric is different from steam roads in that it was never under supervision of the government and as a result, has no guarantee by the government, as do the steam roads.

He said a plan for the government taking over the Ohio Electric had been approved by Director General McAdoo and he was in Washington for the purpose of taking up the matter with the railroad commission when the armistice was signed.

A new schedule of rates will be filed with the interstate commerce commission as provided by the decision of the commission, at once, Dugan said. This schedule will be effective within five days after it is filed with the commission, instead of 30 days as is the case when a new schedule is filed with the public utilities commission in this state.

NEW FORCES SENT INTO IRELAND

British Rush More Troops as Battles Continue.

LONDON.—More British troops were rushed into Ireland Saturday, as new reports of fighting between Sinn Feiners and British government forces were received here.

Meanwhile, Premier Lloyd George was planning to push thru parliament with all possible speed the new measure authorizing more drastic measures to suppress the guerrilla warfare which exists in Ireland.

With railway trains standing idle on the tracks, their crews refusing to carry soldiers and a hostile crowd looking on, 1,000 Royal Fusiliers marched ashore from a transport at Queenstown Saturday morning, climbed into motor truck and were distributed to points considered menaced by the Sinn Feiners.

The worst outbreak of the day, according to advices Saturday evening, occurred in the village of Tipper Church Saturday morning, where the police were the aggressors. Goaded to frenzy by the murder of their companions by Sinn Feiners, the constables sought to terrorize the inhabitants of the town by bomb throwing. The torch was applied to several buildings, and are swept over part of the hamlet.

Reports that the return to Ireland of Eamonn De Valera, "president of the republic" is imminent, are causing much excitement there, dispatches received here Saturday said. The separatists also are looking forward to the coming of Archbishop Mannix of Australia, who sailed Saturday from New York, as an event that will help them in their fight to separate Ireland from the empire. There was a rumor that De Valera would join Mannix after the Baltic left its New York dock and that they would arrive in British waters together. Support for the new Irish bill was being lined up in parliament Saturday, but it seemed assured that considerable opposition to it would develop when its full terms become known.

DETAILED CENSUS FIGURES GIVEN

Few Sub-Divisions in Allen-co Show Gain in 10 Years.

Preliminary census figures of each township of Allen-co, made public Saturday show that every rural township of the county except those adjoining the city of Lima, and Marion-twp, in which Delphos is located, made a decrease in population during the last 10 years.

While the official population of Lima is given as 41,306, figures for American, Bath and Shawnee-tps show them to have increased a total of 1,018. This increase is directly due to expansion of Lima beyond the city limits.

Villages in the county which show a decrease in population are Beaverdam, Bluffton, Harrod, Lafayette, Spencerville and West Cairo.

Detailed statement of 1920 census figures for the county exclusive of Lima and comparisons follow:

WILL CALL TENNESSEE LEGISLATURE NEXT WEEK
NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Governor Roberts Saturday night declared he would issue a formal call next week for a special session of the Tennessee legislature for August 9. Roberts declared he would issue the call immediately after the state primaries August 5. First consideration of the assembly will be ratification of the federal woman suffrage amendment. State matters will be secondary, he said.

New Schedules Include Both Passenger and Freight Charges.

AUTHORIZED BY THE I. C. C.

Interurban and Steamship Lines Affected By Decision.

WASHINGTON.—The interstate commerce commission late Saturday handed down a formal decision authorizing railroads to increase freight, passenger and Pullman rates approximately $1,500,000,000 annually.

The same authorization was given to electric, interurban lines and certain passenger and freight steamship companies operating mainly on the Great Lakes and in the coastwise trade.

The increased rates will add approximately $3,000,000,000 to commodity prices generally, according to the economic principle laid down by former Rail Director Walker D. Hines, who declared that freight rate increases are reflected from three to five fold in commodity prices. Railroad officials contradict this, saying the reflection will be less than two-fold.

FREIGHT RATES

As outlined by the commission in its decision, a 20 percent increase may be laid on passenger fares, excess baggage rates and charges now made for carrying milk on passenger trains. Authority also was granted the roads to exact a surcharge of 50 percent on all Pullman and chair car fares to go to the carriers and not to the Pullman company.

Freight rate increases were authorized as follows:

Eastern territory 40 percent; southern territory 25 percent; western territory 35 percent. Increases asked by the roads were to go to Eastern 30 percent; southern 31 percent and western 35 percent.

The commission's order dealt only in percentages. The estimate of $1,500,000,000 as the probable yield of the increases, however, is regarded as accurate.

5-1-2 PERCENT FOR ROADS

The commission intended the increases to be sufficient to enable the roads to pay 5 1-2 percent on their investment after paying all operating expenses, including the $226,000,000 paid for the war bonds held by the railroad. The roads were to be allowed this rate on the $2,000,000,000 of new equipment in a recent decision. Another 0.5 percent was added to provide for new equipment and better service. The total return therefore, was figured on a basis of six percent.

NEW EQUIPMENT

The one-half of one per cent increase added to cover equipment and better service generally spending amounts to approximately $34,500,000 a year. Roads are required to file semi-annual statements with the commission, listing equipment purchased and explaining other expenditures for betterments.

The roads estimate that they now need 3,000 passenger cars and 2,000 locomotives. Freight car needs are placed at $100,000.

The commission's decision has been long awaited by shippers, manufacturers and business men generally throughout the United States. It is intended to put the roads on their feet. Since their return to private ownership, the roads have incurred deficits totaling approximately $500,000,000, according to estimates here. This loss has piled up since March 1, when the government turned the lines back to private ownership. It must be made good by the government.

OPERATIVE TILL MARCH, 1922

The new rates are intended to be operative until March 31, 1922. The commission's decision is a sort of outline to the roads as to how far they can go in fixing increases. It does not fix specific rates on any particular commodity. Fixing the actual rates is up to the individual railroad companies.

Neither can the railroads simply take the increased percentages allowed by the commission and apply them in a blanket manner to existing rates. Railroad rates are calculated thru thousands of special considerations. The commission's decision is a charter guide which the railroads will give to their statisticians to be used in fixing new schedules.

Each road as it works out its new schedule will give notice to the public of the new rates by filing the schedule in the office of the commission here. The new rates then may become effective five days later, unless protest is made. In that case the entire schedule or a section of it may be held up pending investigation by the commission. Such investigations

WANT WARREN G. OFF PORCH

Party Leaders Feel He Should Take the Stump

WEEK-END POLITICAL TALK

Vic Donahay Strong for Use of Printers' Ink in Campaign

(BY J. W. FISHER)

Warren G. Harding's front porch plan has already given him a case of nervous shakes as they contemplate the possibility of a failure of desired results, due to the fact that perhaps the folks in different parts of the land will not be so eager to call on Warren at his front door in Marion as was the case at Canton when McKinley was a candidate.

It is pointed out by those in Republican councils who are opposed to the front porch campaign idea that railroad fare is now three cents per mile, that the railroads are not over-anxious to run excursions any time, anywhere. Back in the days of McKinley conditions were different, as the Marion candidate is being forced to admit. Harding is said to be just as strong as ever in favor of the front door campaign, but the conditions have resulted in getting the knees of his party leaders in a wobbly condition.

Demands are being made from all parts of the country by Republican organizations that Harding "get off the grass" and deliver addresses in different parts of the country. They claim in telegrams and letters to the Senator that it's going to be necessary. The decision of Harding to remain at home is a disappointment to the rank and file of the Republican voters, who like to have the advantage of seeing the candidate in action on the stump, but it's not likely that any considerable number of them will put up the car fare to go to Marion, save those nearby and the very rich at long distances. Altogether, Harding's position on the front lawn of his Marion home isn't exactly secure. He may have to pack his grip and say good-bye to the townsfolk for a brief spell at least before election day.

Ohio, "the mother of presidents," now has five nominees on five tickets, in the presidential and vice presidential derby. Three are editors and publishers, the fourth is the head of a book publishing house and the fifth is a Methodist clergyman. Two candidates for vice president are Clevelanders.

In addition to James M. Cox, Democratic nominee for president, editor and publisher of the Dayton News and Springfield News, and Warren G. Harding, Marion, Republican nominee for president, editor and publisher of the Marion Star, the new additions to Ohio's list are: Max S. Hayes, Cleveland farmer, La Grange, Ohio, nominee for vice president, editor and publisher of the Cleveland Citizen, a weekly labor paper, and Richard C. Barnum, Cleveland, Single Tax Party's nominee for vice president. He is the head of a book publishing company and is regarded in Cleveland as the tallest candidate who has ever stood for that office. He stands six feet eight inches in his stocking feet. He was born in Texas 39 years ago.

Rev. Aaron S. Watkins of Germantown, Ohio, minister and college head, is the Prohibition candidate for the presidency. Under the circumstances, there isn't much chance for the people of the United States to elect a president other than an Ohio man, as both the candidates of the old party are from Ohio and there is no reason to believe otherwise than that these two will be chosen.

James R. Marker of Greenville, Larke-co. former state highway commissioner, designated to the Democratic national convention at San Francisco and now engaged as campaign manager for John Maher of Greenville, candidate for the Democratic nomination of congressman from the 4th Ohio district, in Lima the latter part of the week, brought this message: "My candidate is assured of nomination. A canvass of the district proves to my satisfaction that John Maher will win."

Other candidates and their friends and backers see the same sort of outcome of the primary election on August 10 for themselves. Geo. W. Mannix, Jr., Greenville, jurist, is making the liveliest sort of campaign and is so thoroughly diligent in chasing the elusive vote in Allen-co that he has opened headquarters in this city, in charge of local lieutenants.

The claim is made by Mannix backers that the friends of John Cunningham who aided the Bluffton banker in his aspiration for congress a few years ago are rallying to the support of Mannix, while other candidates assert that the former Cunningham support is divided among the several men in the field for preference.

Our own Allen countian, B. F. Welty, twice elected to congress and who feels that having acquired a considerable knowledge of the duties incumbent upon a congressman, and that he is in a position to be of real value to his constituents by reason of such service, is seeking nomination for a third term. Mr. Welty came home for the purpose of endeavoring to prevent any one of the three other candidates for his job beating him to it for the first lap of a return trip to Washington.

L. M. Studevant is also doing a two-step over the district, but so far as is known hasn't devoted a great amount of time to Lima and Allen-co. Thus far, the contest has been of the most friendly, but determined character and bids fair to continue so until the Democratic voters finally decide the contest on August 10.

In addition to three Democrats seeking nomination for Congressman Welty's Washington position, there are four Republican candidates. Which leads to the conclusion that exactly seven candidates are going to be disappointed in the primary and the election. The name of the winner is right now a matter of conjecture.

In answer to a query concerning how the electoral college is constituted and how it operates: In the November election the voters will cast their ballots for "presidential electors," whose names appear on the ticket under the party designation of the candidate in whose name they stand. Each state is entitled to the same number of electors as it has representatives and senators in the national congress. Ohio has 24, one from each congressional district and two "at large" for the two United States Senators. In 1921 there will be 531 members of the electoral college.

On January 10, 1921, "the second Monday in January," the presidential electors who have been chosen by popular vote at the November election will "meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for president and vice president." Three certified copies of the result are made, one goes to the president of the senate (the vice president) by special messenger, another to the same destination by mail and the third is filed with the Judge of the United States court in the district where the college meets.

February 3, 1921, "the second Wednesday in February," the president of the senate, in the presence of the senate and the house of representatives assembled in joint session opens the certificates and the votes are counted. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes, provided he gets a majority, is declared elected. The same is true of the vice presidency. If no candidate has a majority (266 in this instance) the members of the senate withdraw and the house proceeds to choose a president from the three candidates having the highest number of votes. If the election is carried to this stage, each state is entitled to one vote.

If no candidate for the vice presidency gets a majority, the senate elects one from the two highest candidates, each senator having one vote.

Then if the house of representatives fails to choose a president, the vice president so elected becomes the president.

Auditor of State A. Victor Donahay is one candidate at least who has an appreciation of the value of printers' ink in getting his message to the voters of the state of Ohio in a light that is favorable to his interests as an aspirant for the Democratic nomination for the high office of governor. Many of the Republicans probably feel like congratulating him on his choice of a press agent. Perhaps it is just Mr. Donahay's way of doing things, but much of what he has done officially while auditor of state—that attract favorable remark from the people has come generally in a dramatic way and in the writing.

During the seven years Vic Donahay has been at the head of the state's bookkeeping department, he has gotten himself before the public as a pretty good vote-getter, as several gentlemen found out when he was a candidate for auditor four years ago. Vic has a well developed habit of doing things right. He believes that the same honesty and the same care should be given to the people's business by an official as he gives to his own private affairs.

Faring padded bills is Vic's favorite pastime and he works overtime at it. He has well earned the title of "watch-dog of the treasury." Numerous gentlemen who vainly endeavored to extract shining shakels from the treasury of the state without rightful claim thereto are in a position to offer unimpeachable testimony on that score.

Little has been heard thus far of the candidacy of Vic Donahay for Governor. It has been necessary. All others within the party who may have entertained aspirations for that office curbed their ambition when Vic's name was proposed. He'll be the nominee of the Democratic party without opposition. As much cannot be said of a candidate for the Republican States that party there are such a multitudinous number of lightning rods up that the Republican voters are kept guessing. The candidates—three, count 'em—are Ralph Cole of Findlay, Mayor Harry Davis of Cleveland and Roscoe C. McCullough of Canton. There's a fine row on among these gentlemen there that will probably inure to the benefit of Vic Donahay in the election.

Candidates for nomination for county office are right now digging in, tooth and toe, as the final round in the scrimmage looms in the near distance—August 10. The larger and more important events of the political arena have detracted somewhat from local contests, but there is a marked increase in interest nevertheless.

There are exactly 26 candidates for nomination for county office on the Democratic ticket, as follows: Five for representative, one for common pleas judge, one for sheriff, one for commissioner, two for county treasurer, one for recorder, one for surveyor, one for prosecuting attorney, one for coroner, three for common pleas judge, two for probate judge. In every case there is only one to be nominated, save for commissioner, three in number.

Exactly ten less Republicans are seeking nomination. They total 16 and comprise: One for representative, one for clerk of courts, one for sheriff, five for commissioner, one for county treasurer, one for recorder, one for surveyor, one for prosecuting attorney, one for coroner, one for probate judge, two for common pleas judge. By long odds the "warmest" fights in the Democratic ranks are for common pleas judge and probate judge. Among the Republicans the big contest is for commissioner.

In the senatorial district there are three candidates for one nomination the Democratic ticket and four on the Republican ticket. After the primary election, Democratic headquarters will be opened, perhaps in connection with the Cox club, and the fight that is now on in the old parties for nomination will be carried to the enemy of the opposite party. From this time forth, until the close of the ballot boxes on August 10th, voters may as well resign themselves to the ordeal of being "pestered" by candidates. Job seekers are abroad. The chase for votes is on. May the best men win the nominations.

WANT WARREN G. OFF PORCH

Party Leaders Feel He Should Take the Stump

WEEK-END POLITICAL TALK
Vic Donahey Strong for Use of Printers' Ink in Campaign

(BY J. W. FISHER)

Warren G. Harding's front porch campaign plan has already given his supporters a case of nervous shakes as they contemplate the possibility of a failure of desired results, due to the fact that perhaps the folks in different parts of the land will not be so eager to call on Warren at his front door in Marion as was the case at Canton when McKinley was a candidate.

It is pointed out by those in Republican councils who are opposed to the front porch campaign idea that railroad fare is now three-cents per mile, that the railroads are not overwilling to run excursions any time, anywhere. Back in the days of McKinley conditions were different, as the Marion candidate is being forced to admit. Harding is said to be just as strong as ever in favor of the front door campaign, but the conditions have resulted in getting the knees of his party leaders in a wobbly condition.

Demand are being made from all parts of the country by Republican organizations that Harding "get off the grass" and deliver addresses in different parts of the country. They claim in telegrams and letters to the Senator that it's going to be necessary. The decision of Harding to remain at home is a disappointment to the rank and file of the Republican voters, who like to have the advantage of seeing the candidate in action on the stump, but it's not likely that any considerable number of them will put up the car fare to go to Marion, save those nearby and the very rich at long distances. Altogether, Harding's position on the front lawn of his Marion home isn't exactly secure. He may have to pack his grip and say good-bye to the townfolk for a brief spell at least before election day.

Ohio, "the mother of presidents," now has five nominees on five tickets in the presidential and vice presidential derby. Three are editors and publishers, the fourth is the head of a book publishing house and the fifth is a Methodist clergyman. Two candidates for vice president are Clergymen.

In addition to James M. Cox, Democratic nominee for president, editor and publisher of the Dayton News and Springfield News, and Warren G. Harding, Marion, Republican nominee for president, editor and publisher of the Marion Star, the new additions to Ohio's list are:

Max S. Hayes, Cleveland farmer, Labor Party nominee for vice president, editor and publisher of the Cleveland Citizen, a weekly labor paper, and Richard C. Barnum, Ohio, Single Tax Party's nominee for vice president. He is the head of a book publishing company and is regarded in Cleveland as the tallest candidate who has ever aspired to that office. He stands six feet eight inches in his stocking feet. He was born in Texas 39 years ago.

Rev. Aaron S. Watkins of Germantown, Ohio, minister and college head, is the Prohibition candidate for the presidency. Under the circumstances, there isn't much chance for the people of the United States to elect a president other than an Ohio man, as both the candidates of the old party are from Ohio and there is no reason to believe other than one of these two will be chosen.

James R. Marker of Greenville, Danke-co, former state highway commissioner, delegated to the Democratic national convention at San Francisco and now engaged as campaign manager for John Maher of Greenville, candidate for the Democratic nomination for congressman from the 4th Ohio district, in Lima the latter part of the week, brought this message: "My candidate is assured of nomination. A canvass of the district proves to my satisfaction that John Maher will win."

Other candidates and their friends and backers see the same sort of outcome of the primary election on August 16 for themselves. Geo. W. Mendenhall, Jr., Greenville jurist, is making the liveliest sort of campaign and is so thoroughly diligent in chasing the elusive vote in Allen-co that he has opened headquarters in this city, in charge of local lieutenants.

The claim is made by Mannix backers that the friends of Newt Cunningham who aided the Bluffton banker in his aspiration for congress a few years ago are rallying to the support of Mannix, while other candidates assert that the former Cunningham support is divided among the several men in the field for preference.

Our own Allen countyman, B. F. Welty, twice elected to congress and who feels that having acquired a considerable amount of the duties incumbent upon a congressman and that he is in a position to be of real value to his constituents by reason of such service, is seeking nomination for a third term. Mr. Welty came home for the purpose of endeavoring to prevent any one of the three other candidates for his job beating him to it for the first lap of a return trip to Washington.

L. M. Stenderant is also doing a two-step over the district, but so far as is known hasn't devoted a great amount of time to Lima and Allen-co. Thus far, the contest has been of the most friendly, but determined character and bids fair to continue so until the Democratic voters finally decide the contest on August 10.

In addition to three Democrats seeking nomination for Congressman Welty, Washington position, there are four Republican candidates, which leads to the conclusion that exactly seven candidates are going to be disappointed in the primary and the election. The name of the winner is right now a matter of conjecture.

In answer to a query concerning how the electoral college is constituted and how it operates: In the November election the voters will cast their ballots for "presidential electors," whose names appear on a ticket under the party designation.

tion of the candidate in whose name they stand. Each state is entitled to the same number of electors as it has representatives and senators in the national congress. Ohio has 24, one from each congressional district and two "at large" for the two United States Senators. In 1921 there will be 531 members of the electoral college.

On January 10, 1921, "the second Monday in January," the presidential electors who have been chosen by popular vote at the November election will meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for president and vice president. Three certified copies of the result are made; one goes to the president of the senate (the vice president) by special messenger, another to the same destination by mail and the third is filed with the Judge of the United States court in the district where the college meets.

On February 8, 1921, "the second Wednesday in February," the president of the senate, in the presence of the senate and the house of representatives assembled in joint session opens the certificates and the votes are counted. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes, provided he gets a majority, is declared elected. The same is true of the vice presidency. If no candidate has a majority (268 in this instance) the members of the senate withdraw and the house proceeds to choose a president from the three candidates having the highest number of votes. If the election is carried to this stage, each state is entitled to one vote.

If no candidate for the vice presidency gets a majority, the senate elects one from the two highest candidates, each senator having one vote.

When the house of representatives fails to choose a president, the vice president so elected becomes the president.

Auditor of State A. Victor Donahey is one candidate at least who has an appreciation of the value of printers' ink in getting his message to the voters of the state of Ohio in a light that is favorable to his interests as an aspirant for the Democratic nomination for the high office of governor. Many of the Republicans probably feel like congratulating him on his choice of a press agent. Perhaps it is just Mr. Donahey's way of doing things, but much of what he has done officially while auditor of state that attract favorable remarks from the people has come generally in a dramatic way and lost nothing in the telling.

During the seven years Vic Donahey has been at the head of the state's bookkeeping department, he has gotten himself before the public as a pretty good vote-getter, as several gentlemen found out when he was a candidate for auditor four years ago. He has a well developed habit of doing things right. He believes that the same honesty and the same care should be given to the people's business by an official as he gives to his own private affairs.

Faring padded bills is Vic's favorite pastime and he works overtime at it. He has well earned the title of "watch-dog of the treasury." Numerous gentlemen who vainly endeavored to extract shining shickels from the treasury of the state without rightful claim thereto are in a position to offer unimpeachable testimony on that score.

In every case there is only one to be nominated, save for commissioner, three in the race.

Exactly ten less Republicans are seeking nomination. ## PROTEST AGAINST 'PUPPY LOVE' IS ANSWERED BY MANY LIMA PERSONS

Editor, The News and Times-Democrat:

Being the mother of a 16 year old girl, I would like to say a few things in regard to the letter on "puppy love" published in Wednesday's paper.

I haven't seen anything alarming so far, perhaps because I have made a confidant of my girl and she of me. She is informed of the serious results of too early intimation for the opposite sex, and she is free to be with young company when it is essential, and on different occasions where her school classes call her. But she is not silly over these events and they soon pass from her mind. In case anything doubtful takes place I am told, and so can be sure to give advice.

Others should begin when a girl is young, make her acquainted with the true things of life and not let her own (the mother's) cares and troubles remain a mystery to the daughter. Thru sympathy and love she will become more sensible and trustworthy.

Keep the young girls in school if possible, and do not deny them all privileges. We would be hard indeed to ask the girl of 16 years to give up all thoughts of boys entirely. I should be afraid my daughter was not of normal mind should she never share any desire for boy friends. It is sure as life itself, nature's inheritance, so let us live and let live and give advice in time. Mothers, try this on the boys. An Everyday Mother.

ONE MOTHER'S PLAN

Editor, The News and Times-Democrat:

I am a reader of the News and I think the letter written by some mother, on puppy love among 16 year old boys and girls very interesting.

I certainly enjoyed the letter in Thursday's paper signed "A Father." As a father knows so little, if anything about raising boys or girls, I am sure he thinks the environment at the same time as when he was a boy (many years ago, I judge from the size of his family). Any one could hardly imagine him having time to follow those youngsters and know the company they keep, and still manage the financial end of the H. C. of L. that we are facing today. I would like to hear from the mother of this family.

If mothers or fathers want to raise their boy in this town, they shouldn't boast of his manhood as sometimes it is lost very young. And because a child has a certain man for a father is no sign he might not do something the father would disapprove.

I am the mother of a boy of seventeen and a girl just a little his senior. We have a beautiful home and good music. They bring their boy and girl friends home and have music, dance, sing and have dinner parties at which they have wonderful times.

I have the confidence of both and got out with them a great deal. If my boy and girl are not home at the proper hour I am up, waiting, and wondering if some good-for-nothing boy or girl might influence them in something wrong, and I am a long way from raising mollycoddlers, (whatever that is). You can't have so much confidence in them that you can't see their faults. I know people who do, but they are always ready to see some other child's faults.

One mother cannot raise her boy or girl thru another mother's advice as every child has to be treated differently. No one knows a child like a mother, but everyone knows it is a hard proposition to raise a child in this age, not only in Lima but anywhere. A Mother.

LIST OF DON'TS BY FATHER

Editor, The News and Times-Democrat:

I am a father. I have one son and he is married. Altho he married too young, he thought he loved or thinks he does the girl he married. I think a girl or boy from 16 to 20 does not know their own mind when it comes to getting married. I know by experience. I married young, then turned fool and married again and as to love I do not know what it is.

I want to say that the mothers are to blame for what her girl does. She will dress her girl in this dresses which may be seen thru and allow her to go out.

The mother has so many clubs and parties to attend that she has not time to look after her daughter and see where she goes and whom she goes with. I know a girl in my neighborhood who is not sixteen yet and she goes when and where she pleases with whom she pleases. She will come home late at night with her beau and sit on the porch after father and mother have gone to bed and there is nothing said or done about it.

Well she is not the only one, there are others. Now if any one's daughter should get in trouble at 16 or 18, they would say she was a bad girl. Fathers and mothers, why don't you see that your daughter comes in at the proper hour?

When I was a boy my parents never allowed me out after 9 p. m. and they know always just where I was. Why do so many girls go to the same fellows at the parks? I think that a father who says he is not afraid to trust his boys and girls has not got much respect for womanhood.

Here is another thing: The bobbed hair and the powder puff. I don't like to see a girl all powdered up so. I don't like bobbed hair. It spoils a girl's looks. Beautiful hair and an unpowdered face is the beauty of girl or woman.

Just a few don'ts:

Girls don't powder your face; don't use so much perfume; don't wear too short a dress unless you want men to make remarks about you; don't wear your dress too tight; don't wear neckties; don't wear stockings that can be seen thru; don't go out to parks with men and boys; don't go out joy riding in automobiles.

Mothers take care of your boys and girls. Don't do anything yourself that will bring disgrace to your children. Dress moderately and modestly, not too loud and don't flirt. A Father.

Editor, News and Times Democrat.

There are two things which have yet been conspicuous by their absence in your "Puppy Love" discussion. One is the attitude of many parents toward children of ten years of age or even younger. Grade school pupils have their beaux and sweethearts without a word of reproof from their parents. In fact many parents even teach their children along this line.

But what is more sickening than to see 5th and even 4th grade pupils walking home arm in arm? I know mothers who only consider it "cute" to have their little girls kissed on the cheek grounds. Good old fashioned spanking are too easily neglected at this age. But if parents manifest absolutely no concern toward such "mush" in the grade schools, what can one expect when these pupils get into High School?

The second thing not yet mentioned is the High School is for SCHOOL; not for social affairs. I want my boys to learn, at High School, things which they undoubtedly will need to know when they go to work. How many fathers would give almost anything if they could have had a High School training at the proper age? How many men in the thirties and forties take correspondence courses in English, Algebra, and Geometry? How many thousands of preparatory students there are in our colleges because they did not have enough High School to enter college as freshmen?

Too much encouragement is now given to social affairs by the High School Faculty. I only hope my boys will continue to be "friends" I only hope they will continue to appear at school with a fresh mind and after a full night's sleep; and not half awake, after a High School party or dance. My boys are yet right at the top in their studies, and I know they will stay there so long as they make their studies their main thing. But I can hit the house with a stone where there is a young girl who has had too much Boy-and-Girl-Ology and failed last year.

A plague on your High School social affairs! Let young folks wait till they are older for their social life; plenty of time for that after they get out of school.

So please allow me to say that I am in perfect accord with the mother who started this discussion. A Father of three.

WOMEN'S EYES ON TENNESSEE

Suffragists Hope That State Will be "Perfect Thirty-Six"

LIMA LADY BOOSTS GOV. COX

Mrs. Kent Hughes Talks on Prospects of Vote for Women

"If Tennessee will only ratify the suffrage amendment, I am quite confident there will be a strong Democratic women's organization in Lima and Allen-co," said Mrs. Kent W. Hughes, who was one of the few Ohio women who attended the Democratic national convention in San Francisco in an official capacity. "What we need now is the thirty-sixth state, the 'perfect thirty-six' as it has been called. Some plans have already been made locally. At present we intend to organize in districts just as the men do, but these plans may be changed. W. W. Durbin, Democratic state chairman, has splendid plans for organizing the entire state. "If we fail to get the vote I, as corresponding secretary of the State Suffrage Association, will devote all my time in trying to draw out a full Democratic women vote in the states where they are allowed to vote. The vote in previous years has been most grateful, it is sure to be larger this year. There are now seventeen million women who can vote without the referendum. "It seems apparent that the women over the country will recognize the progressive spirit of the Democratic platform and give their vote to the Democratic nominee, not only for his progressive spirit which has been strongly evident, for the measures he has supported concerning the welfare of women and children and the educational and public health laws, but for his influence as a man and as an executive to secure the full franchise for women. In contrast with the Republican nominee, the appeal ought to be very great all over the country. As a party the Democrats have always shown as much more interest in women in politics than the Republicans, as demonstrated at the San Francisco convention. This alone would influence the women vote. At Chicago the women were given representation but were not invited into caucuses of special committees. At San Francisco the women were given a share in every phase of the convention. Especially noteworthy was the fact that the Democrats by a recent ruling had each state appoint a woman member of the national committee to act with the gentlemen members. The women were treated on a complete equality with the men. They were given recognition in all caucuses and committees. "In all states the suffrage association has been converted into the League of Women Voters. As soon as a state gives women the right to vote, the suffrage association dies automatically and the league takes its place. This league is already organized in all states and will be the strongest non-partisan body of women in the country. The league presented several planks to high parties. The Republicans made brief reference to a few of them. The Democrats were much more appreciative and adopted them much more fully than the Republicans. "As an officer of the convention I had the opportunity to get in touch with the leading women of the convention and was asked to present certain planks of the league's platform to certain members of the resolution committee. I was particularly impressed with the delight the non-partisan officers of the league received the report of the Democratic party on their planks. "Another thing that will influence the woman vote for Cox is that he is as fine an exponent of law enforcement as there is in the United States. The 18th amendment is not being enforced as it should be and one thing the women are anxious to see is to have this amendment enforced. I feel certain that Cox will do this. "Undoubtedly if the women get to vote it will have a big influence in helping the Democratic nominee win, particularly if Tennessee is the state that ratifies the amendment. "I have heard that a great number of Ohio women are planning to be at the Cox notification on Aug. 7. They will help their cause all they can there. Mrs. Hughes, wife of Judge Kent M. Hughes of the appellate court, visited the San Francisco convention for the purpose of having incorporated in the Democratic platform social welfare and educational planks. This Lima lady was a state welfare worker during the war, appointed by Governor Cox and used her influence among women delegates in the convention in behalf of the candidacy of the Ohioan. PARIS. — Mrs. George Ogilvy Haig, London, formerly Miss Charlotte Astor, died at American hospital in Neuilly.

CEMENT LACK IS ACUTE

Re-opening of Spring-St to Traffic Depends on Material

Laying of vitrified block on the South Side relief sewer had progressed as far south as Eureka-st. Saturday. The excavation was completed to a point south of this street, according to Supervising Engineer B. F. Darling and has gone from a sand and loamy material to a true red clay. Darling declared the uncertainty of the material market, especially cement, is the only thing that may hold up work on the big Collett-st sewer. The excavation here has progressed to a point just north of Spring-st and Darling said if two more carloads of cement which are expected to arrive within the next few days are not delayed the opening in the Timberlake sewer will be closed this week and Spring-st opened to traffic again.

Big Crowd From Allen-co at Cox Notification is Assured

"Everything is in shapshape for the pilgrimage of members of the Allen-co club to Dayton on Saturday, August 7, for the Cox notification ceremonies," President L. Earl Ludwig of the club stated Saturday.

"Demands are being made for tickets for the Western Ohio special cars for the trip to Dayton and return in a manner that indicates a splendid success for the effort," Ludwig said. A sufficient number of cars have been promised by Traffic Manager Sullivan of the Western Ohio to take care of all who may wish to go. Final arrangements have been completed for a band of music to accompany the party and assurances have been given that candidates for county and district office on the Democratic ticket will be in the party and that they will urge their friends to go along. A big crowd is anticipated.

Tickets for the round trip are being sold at $4 each, each purchaser to receive a badge. Special cars depart from Lima at 7 a. m. and return leave Dayton at 7 p. m. Enthusiasm among Democrats is spreading all over the county for participation in this event.

PARTS.—Premier Millerand given report of chamber of deputies with vote of confidence 356 to 169.

NEW CHAMPIONS RISE AS RECORDS GO BY THE BOARDS

By HENRY L. FARRELL

SOME day a horse will run a mile in a minute and a quarter. Some day a diamond star will knock seventy-five home runs per year.

Some day a sprinter will dash 100 yards in nine seconds. Records have fallen with such consistency this year that fans are acclaiming the day of the superman.

But they thought the same thing 10 years ago.

The superman degree in accomplishments of sport has not been reached. Perhaps it never will be.

When Bob Simpson ran the 120-yd. high hurdles in 14 3-5, back in 1916, he was back with the comfortable feeling that here was a record that would stand for all time.

When the mark for 100 yds. was set at 9 2-5 it was believed as the maximum of human speed.

When the good horse Sunbilar ran a mile at Saratoga in 1918 in 1:36 1-5 the superman degree of the winning horse was heralded.

But practically all the kings of old have been dethroned in a spectacular revolution of sport during the past year.

Earl Thompson, the Canadian star of Dartmouth, made the 120-yd. hurdles in 12 1-5; Charley Paddock, the California flier, was timed twice in 9 2-5 for the century dash and equalled the world's record for the 100 meters over a rough, uphill, improvised track in Brooklyn; and the great Man of War ran a mile in 1:35 2-5.

More than that — this wonderful hundreded set a new world's mark of 1:10 2-5 for a mile and a furlong and a new mark of 2:14 1-5 for 1 3-8 miles.

Last year when the swat king of the ball, Babe Ruth, knocked 29 home runs it was acclaimed as a record for all time. Yet the Babe came to that mark in a little over a half season this year.

Last winter, Norman Ross, the greatest swimmer in American history, started a campaign against old established record that resulted in new world's marks for 200, 220, 300, 440 and 500 yards and a half-mile indoors.

Then there was Jake Driscoll, the

ANOTHER MAJOR LEAGUE UNION LOOKS

NEW YORK.—It has become known here that a quiet movement seemingly fostered by the old directors of the Players' Fraternity, has been started toward forming a baseball players' union.

The men have seen the great drawing of crowds this year in the major leagues and they are figuring on forcing higher salaries for themselves next year in spite of the big increases paid them when contracts were signed last winter.

The club owners have wind of the plan and are preparing to combat what may develop into a general strike when it comes to signing time. It is notable that the men most interested in this new movement are players who are beginning to slip and have but a few more years in the majors.

BOSTON COLLEGE RUNNER, WHO MADE A NEW MARK OF 59 1-5 FOR 500 YARDS, AND THE ENGLISH RACE TEAM — T. GAMMIE, STAFFORD, MILLIGAN AND RUDD, WHO RAN TWO MILES FOR A NEW WORLD MARK OF 1:05 2-5. AND ETHELDA BLEIBREY WHO SWAM 100 METERS IN 1:12 2-5.

Tammie Milton also joined the select circle of record breakers by setting a half-dozen new automobile marks on the Daytona beach.

Along the line of accomplished impossibles also was the feat of William T. Tilden, the first American ever to win the world's tennis championship.

The old boys who lived in the past generation's day of wonders look upon the new record holders with more tolerance and while conceding them honors for their accomplishments still say that the athletes of old were the best.

They cite new conditions, new facilities for speed as the reason for the deterioration of their heroes.

We who are living now in the new generation's day of wonder athletes may say the same thing in life's tomorrow when we see our heroes fall by the wayside, their places taken by the school boys of today.

Just because the world gets better every day and things of necessity must advance.

The fans of today may accept the new superman but there will be those who will always say:

"There never was a horse like Man of War. The swimmer never lived as good as Norman Ross. Charley Paddock was the greatest of all sprinters. The new champions are preliminary boys compared to Jack Dempsey and Benny Leonard."

It's the same old story.

WILL FEATURE CABLE SHOOT

One of the most interesting of the events to be held in conjunction with the national rifle shooting tournament, under the auspices of the government at Camp Perry, O., next month, will be the international match with the pick of the small bore rifle teams of England, Canada and Australia, opposing the marksmen of the United States.

This match will be shot by cable. The teams will do their shooting on their home ranges, the scores will be exchanged by cable, and later the targets will be exchanged.

The event will be for the $1,000 Dewey trophy. This prize is now held by this country and a team of twenty picked men will shoot in its defense.

All A. I. U. members of this city will hold joint memorial services at Morris Avenue Sunday at 8 o'clock. All members are invited to attend.

ST. LOUIS.—The baseball millenium was reached here Saturday afternoon—at least from the spectators' viewpoint—when Babe Ruth slammed out his 37th home run over the right field bleachers and the home team won by the score of 13 to 8. Four home runs and four double plays helped amuse the spectators.

ST. LOUIS.—The baseball millenium was reached here Saturday afternoon—at least from the spectators' viewpoint—when Babe Ruth slammed out his 37th home run over the right field bleachers and the home team won by the score of 13 to 8. Four home runs and four double plays helped amuse the spectators.

"millions now living will never die"

—Judge Rutherford

Because of unprecedented interest manifested in the rapid fulfillment of Biblical Prophecies, and the many requests for a return date for this lecture, Judge Rutherford has granted Columbus another dating and will deliver this remarkable lecture in MEMORIAL HALL, COLUMBUS OHIO, SUNDAY AFTERNOON. Since speaking there January 4th, Mr. Rutherford has delivered this lecture to overflowing audiences at New York Hippodrome, Boston Theater, Chicago Auditorium and elsewhere. and return dates urgently sought everywhere. Every family is involved and many thousands are rejoicing because of this comforting Biblical message of the hour.

In this lecture, it will be conclusively proven to everyone willing to accept Bible testimony, by important prophecies which have been fulfilled during the past four years, and from many others still in course of fulfillment, that hundreds of thousands now living in this vicinity will never die. Many thousands of advanced Bible scholars within the past few months have endorsed this proclamation and it surely is worthy of general and personal investigation.

THE WORLD HAS ENDED and the promised and long looked for day of reconstruction and refreshing is here and soon will be made manifest to all. In "Millions Now Living Will Never Die" Judge Rutherford offers a reasonable and satisfying solution of the many questions raised by the conflicting claims of orthodox creeds, Sir Oliver Lodge, Sir Conan Doyle, Christian Science practitioners and the various faith-healing sects. No matter what your present ideas may be on the questions of life and death, communication with spirits, now and hereafter, you should hear

Quija Boards Blamed for Ills of Students

ANN ARBOR (Mich.), January 29. — "Ouija boards are becoming more plentiful in the fraternity and society homes and in the rooms of independent students than Bibles or prayer books and more frequently consulted," declared a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, commenting on a report he had just received that two young women in his class had been obliged to leave school and place themselves in the hands of nerve specialists because of their devotion to the ouija boards.

Dr. Warren Forsythe, head of the university health service, admitted that there had been a great influx of nervous students appearing lately for treatment.

One city nerve specialist said he had treated university women for extreme nervousness and that their difficulty seemed to have been caused by too close association with the ouija board and too great belief in its wanderings.

If the above warning is correct, then it is further proof that the entire population of the earth is menaced by ouija boards and like paraphernalia. This menace is due chiefly to lack of knowledge. The people should have the entire truth on the subject, and that is my only purpose in speaking on it.

JUDGE RUTHERFORD FAVORABLY KNOWN IN ALL CAPITAL CITIES OF EUROPE

During the past ten years Judge Rutherford has lectured in nearly every large city in Europe and America on "Where Are the Dead?" and his lectures on "Millions Now Living Will Never Die" and "Talking With the Dead" are outgrowths of that lecture, made possible and necessary by the fulfillment of certain prophecies during and since the war, and as messages of comfort to the many millions bereaved by the enormous casualties in the World War and subsequent flu epidemics.

TALKING WITH THE DEAD

Can the Living Talk with the Dead?

Statement by Judge Rutherford

Can the living talk with the dead? Sir Conan Doyle, his colleagues, many distinguished clergymen and others, answer yes. The twenty-four prophets of God, the Lord Jesus and His twelve Apostles, according to the inspired testimony set forth in the Bible, answer emphatically no.

Sir Conan Doyle and his colleagues say the soul is immortal—there is no death; hence the dead are able to communicate with the living. Satan said the same thing; and Jesus said Satan is a liar and that his statement was the beginning of lies. (John 8:44.) Satan is the arch-enemy of the human race. Jesus is the Savior of the world, and through Him alone can man get life everlasting. Which one will you believe?

Sir Conan Doyle and his colleagues claim that they hear voices, receive automatic writings through ouija boards, table tipping, etc., and that these emanate from some unseen power. This we do not dispute. The Bible explains that this power is not exercised by the spirits of dead men, but by demons—fallen angels or foul spirits—who were disobedient in Noah's day and whom God restrained in the darkness around this earth. (See 2 Peter 2:4; 1 Peter 3:18-20; Jude 6.) These demons have exercised their power since the time of the flood until the present time through the instrumentality of mediums. The day of their judgment is now here; hence they exercise greater power and are taking advantage of a grief-stricken world to aid Satan in carrying out his first lie—"There is no death."

Sir Conan Doyle and many distinguished clergymen have been and are being deceived by the demons, because they believe and teach the doctrine of immortality of the soul, which is supported by nothing except Satan's falsehood. (Genesis 3:4.) Immortality is promised as a great reward to those who faithfully follow Jesus, even unto death. (1 Corinthians 15:51-53.) The dead are unconscious; they know not anything; they cannot think, smell, hear, speak or do anything whatsoever. (See Psalms 6:5; 115:17; 146:4; Ecclesiastes 9:5, 10.) This being true, it would be impossible for them to communicate with the living.

Nothing is more plainly taught in the Scriptures than the resurrection of the dead—1st, that in due time all the dead shall be awakened and given a trial for life. Such positively disproves that the dead are conscious and are able to communicate with the living, because the resurrection of the world has not yet come.

These so-called communications from the dead are in no wise beneficial to man. The messages are never comforting or uplifting, but, on the contrary, they are often vicious and vile and lead men into crime. Great numbers of men are being made insane by the influence of these demons. Satan and the other demons are thus blinding and defrauding mankind in order to turn their minds away from the great blessings God has in store for them.

This so-called science of communicating with the dead is nothing but demonism, or spiritism and is a menace to the welfare of mankind, the overwhelming proof of which is set forth in my new book, "Talking With the Dead."

J. F. RUTHERFORD.

JUDGE RUTHERFORD

President of the International Bible Students' Association, which was organized by the late Pastor Russell, who for a period of forty years clearly forecasted the 1914-1919 World War, the great flu epidemic and the present period of profiteering, and the granting to the Jews a National Home Land in Palestine.

"I want the statement, 'Millions Now Living Will Never Die,' to be taken literally, as it is, in the light of recently fulfilled prophecy, a provable Biblical proposition." J. F. Rutherford.

Why You Should Vote for the Bonds for the River Retaining Walls!

BECAUSE YOU ARE A CITIZEN OF LIMA AND AS SUCH YOU STAND FOR THE BETTERMENT OF THE CITY. YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO TAKE A STAND FOR A BACKWARD MOVEMENT OF ANY ENTERPRISE.

BECAUSE THIS ISSUE HAS BEEN TWICE SUBMITTED TO THE PEOPLE OF LIMA AND HAS EACH TIME WON A MAJORITY VOTE BUT LOST BECAUSE IT FAILED TO GAIN THE REQUIRED TWO-THIRDS VOTE. YOU ARE CERTAINLY GOOD ENOUGH AN AMERICAN THAT YOU ARE WILLING THAT MAJORITY SHOULD RULE.

BECAUSE IT IS A PART OF THE GREAT FULLER RIVER IMPROVEMENT PLAN THAT WILL EVENTUALLY MAKE OTTAWA RIVER A BEAUTY SPOT AND A PLACE OF PLEASURE RATHER THAN A NAUSEATING, UNHEALTHY PLACE THAT YOU AND YOUR CITY IS ASHAMED OF.

Because It Will Cost You More to Vote Against This Proposition Than It Will To Vote For It

THE CITY HAS ALREADY SPENT A LARGE SUM IN THE WIDENING AND STRAIGHTENING OF THE RIVER. WITH THE SIDES OF THE RIVER UNPROTECTED THIS WORK IS RAPIDLY DETERIORATING. THE BANKS ARE BEING WASHED BACK INTO THE RIVER AND WILL SOON UNDO ALL THE WORK THAT HAS ALREADY BEEN DONE UNLESS THE RIVER WALLS ARE BUILT. EVEN WORSE THAN THIS—PRIVATE PROPERTY ALONG THE RIVER IS BEING ENDANGERED AND THE CITY IS THREATENED WITH INNUMERABLE DAMAGE SUITS WHICH WILL COST YOU, THE TAXPAYER, MORE THAN THE COST OF BUILDING THE WALL.

If the foundation of your house were crumbling and likely to cause it to collapse, you would not be long about fixing it, would you? It is the same kind of economy for you to vote for the Retaining Wall Bond Issue.

THIS PROJECT BENEFITS ONE PART OF THE CITY AS MUCH AS IT DOES THE OTHER. NO MATTER WHERE YOU LIVE YOUR SEWERAGE NOW GOES INTO THE RIVER. IN THE END IT WILL GO INTO LATERAL SEWERS ALONG THE RIVER, BUT THIS WORK CANNOT BE UNDERTAKEN UNTIL THE RETAINING WALLS ARE BUILT.

FOUR MEET DEATH
IN AUTOMOBILEThree Members of Ada Family and Girl Are Killed.

HIT BY PENNSYLVANIA TRAIN

Only Witness Turns Her Head as Crash Comes.

Fate intercepted pleasure and four people went to their doom Saturday, two miles east of Lafayette. Three members of one family and a young woman friend had made up a party to attend a church picnic at Lafayette. They had left the family home about an hour before the picnic was scheduled to start. Ten minutes later, three of the bodies were lying along the Pennsylvania railroad track, the fourth was being carried 400 feet from the scene of the accident, on the pilot of the big locomotive that had hit the car.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Asire, one daughter, Ruth, aged 20, and a friend, Alice Herr, who is a niece of Dr. A. H. Herr of Lima, were the ones to meet their death.

The accident happened at a rather picturesque crossing of the big railroad line. It was known as Fredricks crossing, having been named after the Fredricks farm just near it.

For a mile or so, the road runs first on one side of the railroad, and then at the point of the accident, it crosses and continues its course along the other side. It was at this point that the accident happened.

There might have been a witness, had Mrs. H. E. Fredricks, who lives at the Fredricks farm just within sight of the crossing, not turned her head when she saw the collision was certain. She says:

"I saw the Asires coming down the road in their big car, and I saw the Pennsylvania train coming down the track too. I heard it whistle, but Mr. Asire who was driving the car didn't seem to hear it."

"Then I felt like something was going to happen, so I turned my face. I didn't want to see it."

GOING IN SAME DIRECTION

The engine had apparently struck the big seven passenger Chalmers machine in which the party was riding, directly in the middle. The train was the 8:33 thru Lima, an accommodation passenger train going west. The automobile was going in the same direction as the train.

The machine hurtled over against a pole at the side of the track, broke it down and crashed into a telephone pole guy wire. It was gradually torn to pieces as the brakes of the big engine were being tightened upon the wheels. Mrs. Asire's body and the bodies of the two girls were found near the machine, but Mrs. Asire's body had caught upon the pilot of the engine and had been carried 400 feet down the track before the train could be brought to a standstill.

Debris was scattered all along the track.

Farmers nearby, and the Fredricks family rushed to the crossing after the crash had occurred and attempted to aid the victims. But, it is said, all died instantly.

The train came to a stop, and trainmen reported the wreck to railroad authorities by means of telephone. An Ada undertaker was called to the scene to remove the bodies to be prepared for burial.

Officials in charge of the picnic in Lafayette, upon hearing of the accident, called it off in respect to those who had met their death en-route to the gathering. It is said to have been held under the combined auspices of the Heideberg and St. Paul reformed churches near Lafayette.

FAMILY IS WELL KNOWN

The Asire family were all well known in the vicinity where they lived. The farm was located about two and a half miles west of Ada. Two other daughters, Mrs. Inez Weber of Denver, Col., and Mrs. Thomas Klingler, living west of Ada, made up the remainder of the family.

James W. Asire, Allen-co. and Mrs. George Ash, brother and sister of the late Mr. Asire and Charles Asham, Cleveland, Lou. Asham, Oklahoma, and Mrs. Edie Middleton of Kansas City, Mo., brothers and sister of Mrs. Asire, survive. Mr. Asire was 56 years of age and his wife was 50.

Alice Herr, the young woman who was accompanying the Asires to the picnic when the accident happened, was the daughter of Mrs. Eva Herr of Ada.

Funeral services for the victims have not been arranged. The body of Mr. Asire was the only one mutilated. The skull had been broken, leaving almost the entire head crushed.

TAG DAY TO AID RIVER BONDS

Women and Girls to Join Campaign August 9.

"I will vote for the river improvement bond issue; will you?" This is the inscription printed on 5,000 tags to be placed on Lima workmen in the shops, citizens on the street and others on August 9, which has been designated as tag day for the river improvement bond issue.

Secretary Irving S. Lincoln announced Saturday.

Mrs. S. M. Williams, 1534 Lakewood-ave who has been placed in charge of the organization of girls to distribute tags, said Saturday she expected to have the cooperation of all the women of the city who are interested in civic betterment.

Matrons from the various organizations will act as chaperones to the girls distributing the tags, she said.

Establishes New Sky Line
For Lima

With the opening of the magnificent Argonne hotel January 1, 1931, Lima is to have the finest hotel in northwestern Ohio outside of Toledo. President Francis Durbin of the Lima building company, which is building and will operate the new hotel, declared Saturday.

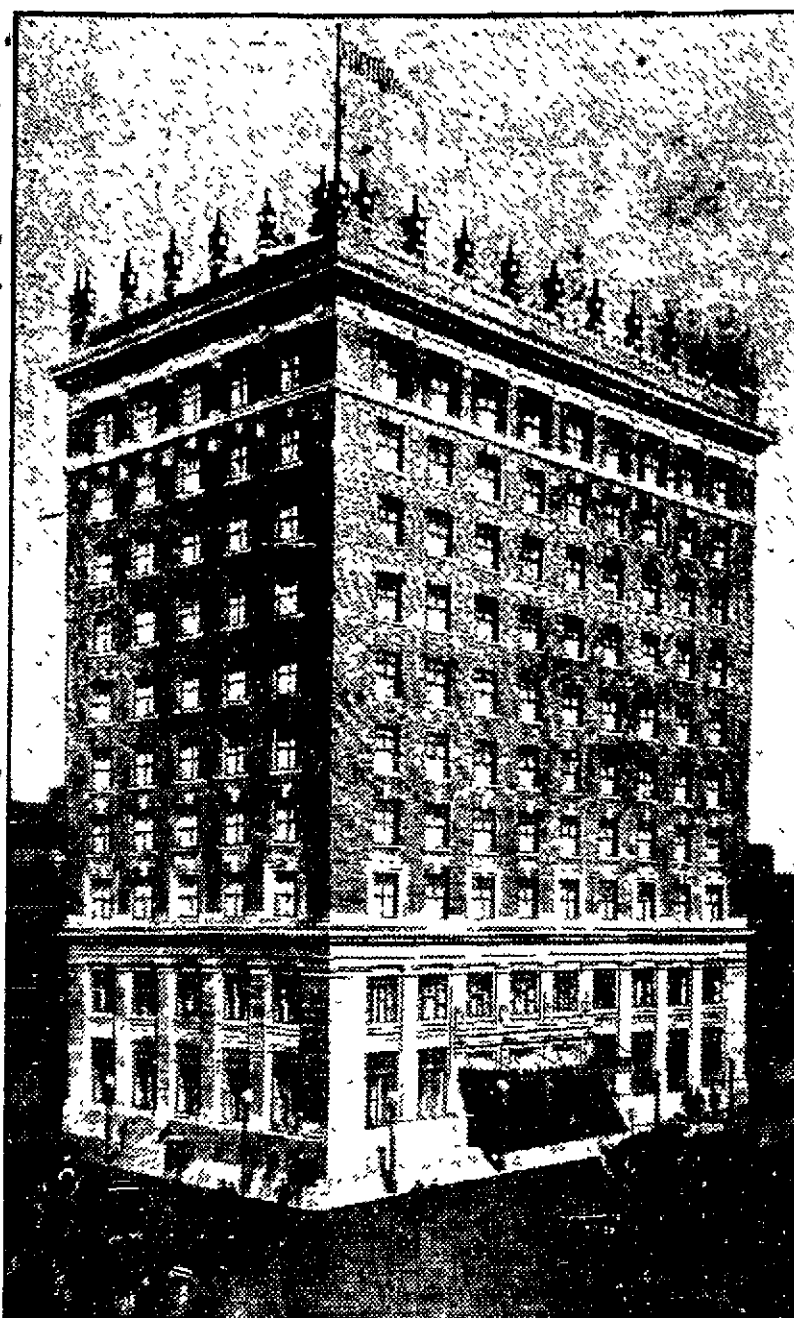

This half million dollar hotel will have 150 outside rooms, each with bath. On the mezzanine floor will be located a magnificent banquet and dance hall. In addition to an elegantly equipped dining room on the first floor. In the basement will be located a modern cafeteria.

President Durbin said a roof garden was not included in the original plans for the hotel, but is now being seriously considered by the management and may be added later.

A high class hotel manager is to be brought here to take charge of the hotel when it opens, Durbin said Saturday. He declared he has already received applications from a number of experienced hotel managers from various parts of the United States, and expects to make a selection from these within a very short time.

It is to be an all-Lima hotel, Durbin said.

Local Capital in New Ten
Story Structure

Limaites have watched rise impressively from the northwest corner of High and Elizabeth-sts to the city's tallest skyscraper was designed by a Lima architect, Andrew DeCurtin, who also drew plans for the Citizens' Savings and Trust building on N. Main-st and the G. E. Blum dry goods store at the northeast corner of Market and Elizabeth-sts.

The Lima building company is composed entirely of Lima business men, and the building was constructed entirely by Lima capital. The officers of the company are as follows: Francis Durbin, president; G. S. Wood, 1st vice president; C. G. Orr, 2nd vice president; T. G. Harris, secretary-treasurer; F. E. Wood, general manager. The stockholders in the company are: Henry Dessel, William Wenner, R. J. Plate, Frank Kommiss, Dr. A. M. Wagner and F. A. Stepieton.

Officers of the company declared Saturday a hotel such as the Argonne will be a long-felt need of this city. With a number of excellent hotels already, it is said the excellent location of the city in the center of an extensive network of steam and electric railways covering the entire northwest section of the state makes it the logical point for traveling men to make their headquarters in covering this territory, resulting in congestion of the hotels here for the past several years. Traveling men come here, Durbin declared, and remain for weeks at a time to work this fertile selling field.

The anticipated growth of Lima due to the expansion of present industries and the probability of others locating here is pointed out as another reason for the city coming to the front with one of the most modern hostilities in the middle west.

WAS PET OF NEIGHBORHOOD

M. G. Harper, Driver of Machine,
Is Grief-stricken.

Naomi Neuman, 5, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Neuman, 130 N. McDonel-st, was internally injured when run over by an automobile driven by Maurice G. Harper, 318 N. Metcalf-st, last night at 6:30 o'clock. Physicians at St. Rita's hospital, where the child was taken, hold out little hope of recovery. The accident occurred opposite the residence of J. E. Grosjean, 112 N. McDonel-st. Harper, driving a five-passenger Reo, had turned onto McDonel from Market-st and was proceeding north.

The little girl in company with two other children, was playing on the sidewalk. She undertook, according to witnesses, to run into the street and was struck by the automobile. J. E. Grosjean, retired shoe dealer, carried the little girl to St. Rita's hospital, only a few blocks away.

The child is the pet of the neighborhood and is noted for her remarkable beauty. She has long, golden curls and big, blue eyes. Her father is "Jack" Neuman of the editorial staff of the Lima Republican-Gazette.

MOTHER PROSTRATE

Mrs. Neuman was prostrate at St. Rita's last night from grief over the accident. Neuman said: "I've got two of the prettiest babies and to think this should happen—" and he, who has witnessed the worst of accidents and catastrophes in his work as newspaper reporter, broke down and cried as he stood at the bedside of his little girl in a room on the fourth floor of St. Rita's hospital.

Harper, who was driving the machine which struck the child, said: "I was driving north on McDonel-st and when in front of the residence of J. E. Grosjean, I noticed three children playing on the sidewalk. Two were about 8 years of age and the other between 5 and 6, I should say."

"When within 15 feet of the children the youngest started over the curbstone and ran across the street in front of my machine. I stopped the car when within the length of myself. I do not think the wheels passed over her body."

"With me at the time was my wife, who was sitting in the rear car, barely escaped with his life."

STOVE PLANT TO BE STARTEDNew Lima Concern Will Employ 400 Men, Backers Say.

The Vapo Stove Company, a newly organized firm capitalized at $500,000 composed entirely of Lima business men and financed by Lima capital will commence within the next 60 days work on construction of one of the largest stove factories in northwestern Ohio, officials announced Saturday.

Fred B. Williams, of the Elmer D Webb company, who is interested in the new company said the first ground will be broken for work on the factory October 1. The company will employ 125 men at the start, Williams, said and is expected to work up to 400 employees.

The factory is to be located on the D. T. and I. railroad in the southeastern part of the city, where it has been ascertained by officials of the company satisfactory arrangements can be made for necessary switches and sidetracks to handle the extensive freight shipments.

Plans for the new factory, being prepared by Architect Walter DeKalb are practically completed. The plant is to be a modern daylight factory, equipped with every appliance which will aid in 100 percent efficiency in manufacture.

The Schulerberg Hydro Carbon burner used on the stove which will be manufactured by the Lima company is said to create a gas from kerosene, resulting in a blaze practically the same as a gas stove, with a higher number of heat units than any other oil-burner and the entire absence of any odor of kerosene.

A practical demonstration of the new invention is to be given to officers of the chamber of commerce within a short time.

Durbin

WHEN two long Pullman trains carrying 500 and more Ohio boosters of the candidacy of Governor James M. Cox for President crossed the continent the latter part of June, for San Francisco, to attend the national Democratic convention, W. W. Durbin of Kenton, prominent manufacturer, chairman of the state executive committee, and father of F. W. Durbin of this city, was aboard the first section and while the train was speeding across the plains of the west, Mr. Durbin, a magician of considerable renown, assembled a few necessary "properties" for a sleight of hand performance in one of the Pullman cars.

The show was given with such success and with so much delight to the audience perched on car seats, that Mr. Durbin was importuned to repeat it for the benefit of the occupants of other cars.

Howard L. Burba, Sunday editor of the Dayton Daily News, was among the spectators. "That was some show," said Burba. "I'm going to corner Durbin before this train arrives at San Francisco and secure the material for a feature page."

Burba made good his "threat." The result of the interview is given herewith:

(BY HOWARD L. BURBA)

WITHIN an hour after the long Cox special to the Frisco convention had snaked its way across the Mohave desert and stood beneath the viaduct which links the Salt Lake Route and Santa Fe depots, Miami valley residents were sending out their first and only "S. O. S." call of the entire journey.

Hon. W. W. Durbin, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, and a prominent figure of the special train, was reported missing. The parade line was forming, and the front ranks yawned for his presence. The 16 Pullmans were searched thoroughly, but the nearest to a trace of the noted politician came with the oft repeated declaration: "He was on board when we started from Salt Lake." A quick search of Fred Harvey's eating house nearby, the most likely place to find a hungry traveler at that hour of the morning, also brought no news of Durbin. And all thru the day his Buckeye friends watched for him with one eye, while viewing the beauties of Los Angeles with the other.

Night came on and his absence was still noted. Men sang in a lusty voice:

"Ohio, Ohio
The hills send back the cry;
We're here to do or die.
Ohio, Ohio
We'll nominate Cox or know the reason why."

But the familiar voice of "Bill" Durbin was missing from the chorus for the first time since the special steamed out of the Dayton union depot. Mrs. Durbin was located in the diner, and from her the anxious pilgrims learned the truth. "Bill" Durbin was locked in his stateroom, reading a new book on parlor magic which he had purchased in Los Angeles after having spent the entire day with a bosom friend and acquaintance of long years. Kellar, once the most widely known magician in the world, now living the sundown of his life in a flower covered bungalow on the outskirts of Los Angeles.

Durbin eased the door of his stateroom open half an inch after the writer had knocked on it for the fourth time. And it was with considerable reluctance that he did so. Then gradually as he learned the interview sought was not to be of a political nature, and when he was for the second time assured that politics would not be mentioned until the train rolled into San Francisco, he opened the door and extended a hand of welcome.

"For several years past you have been credited with being a past master in the Black Art, a sorcerer of modern type, a prince of legions; are you guilty or not guilty?" we asked him. And his answer came quick as a flash:

"Guilty, and darned glad of it. What's the use of having a hobby if you don't ride it. Ever since we left Dayton I've been looking forward to the moment when this train would stop at Los Angeles. As soon as it did, I was ready to step out, and with saying a word I signalled a taxi and within a few moments was seated in the home of the great Kellar, now retired on account of his age, but as great a magician as he ever was, and as lovable a character. All day long we have been together in his home. He showed me the old tricks, I showed him many new ones. We talked upon one subject from the moment I stepped into his home until I left it with barely enough time to catch the train. That subject was magic.

"You see, there is a sort of freemasonry, or brotherhood between magicians. A professor of magic, like a doctor of medicine, no longer makes a discovery in his line that he passes it on to the other magicians. There is a bond of friendship between magicians more pronounced than you can find among any other class. So Kellar and I hit it off happily, and my day with him has been worth the trip to Los Angeles. "When I was a kid of a kid, about ten years old, a family of Irish people living next to my father's home decided to move to a distant city. In throwing out a lot of rubbish from the attic they did not care to take to their new home, they discarded a number of copies of Leslie's Weekly. I was rummaging thru them one day and discovered that the back page of each copy of the magazine was devoted to parlor magic with instructions in performing tricks with cards, bottles, boxes, drinking glasses and the like. I began there the study of magic.

Today I believe I am safe in saying that I have the finest library of books on magic in the United States, and I believe I have stored in my Kenton home the most valuable collection of magic apparatus possessed by any man in America. I have spent thousands of dollars for magical apparatus, but it has been money well spent. After a hard day's work, I find rest and comfort in magical experiments. I go thru a hot political battle, and when I need rest I turn to my magical apparatus, and in a few minutes I begin to feel refreshed.

I find that magic is the best thing in the world to dispel worry and chase gloom. So when I spend my money for new tricks or material with which to do tricks, I count it a good investment.

From the few copies of Leslie's Weekly, this man of national fame in politics, graduated to a thirty cent handbook on magic, purchasing the book with money he had earned hoeing gardens for Kenton citizens. Pretty soon he became recognized among his schoolboy companions as a "wizard." He gave shows in barns about Kenton, and later attracted audiences of more mature years in district school houses. Too poor to buy the apparatus necessary to produce the illusions he desired to make Durbin made most of the equipment used in these exhibitions. He recalls, with that twinkling eye and knowing smile that most politicians have never been able to fully understand, one instance along this line that seems indelibly impressed upon his mind.

"I have seen a magician in a circus, and finally the great Hartz known everywhere as one of the best sleight of hand men in this or any other country. Hartz had a trick, the changing of an article in a cone covered receptacle that baffled me. Sherlock Holmes never worked harder to solve a mystery than I worked on this one. Finally I concluded that it must be done by a means of trap doors, so with the aid of my chum I fitted trap doors with leather hinges, to a storebox that served as a table.

My chum was to crawl in the box at my command and change the articles underneath the cone while I was spelling to the audience.

"But boylike, I forgot about my chum wearing hobnailed boots, and when an inquisitive youngster in the front row heard a noise in the box which served as a table, he made it known to those about him. I got in a mixup with a spectator, and had to drag my chum out of the box to save myself from a licking at the hands of the aggrieved gentleman."

When he was 16, Durbin began the study of law, while holding a clerical position in Washington city. All the time too, he practiced magic and spent his spare moments for new magic apparatus. Soon his fame became known about Washington city and he tells how more than once he was called upon to give exhibitions before various clubs and societies in the capital city. He also recalls with a great deal of pleasure that Judge Phil M. Crow, Lima judge of the appellate court of that district and also at one time a young law student assisted in these entertainments and carried the magic apparatus on and off the stage.

Today, Durbin owns one of the largest sign works in the country, and makes auto tags for a dozen states. He has waxed rich in this business and no longer worries over where the money for magic equipment is coming from. Politics has been a side line with him for years, and he has been as successful in that as in the business world, being recognized today as a power in national affairs.

Not long ago, one of his childhood dreams came true. He longed for a theatre of his own, with a real stage, scenery and footlights, with everything needed to "put on" a magic exhibition. So a few months ago he had one erected on the same lot in Kenton where his beautiful residence is located. It seats 200 and has a stage measurement of 27 x 27 feet, with two complete sets of scenery. Back of the stage is a spacious illusion store room, and in that storeroom is material for the production of any illusion ever used, and for several hundred of his own invention.

It is Durbin's proud boast that he can perform 1500 separate and distinct tricks and that he owns the apparatus necessary to perform every trick. The miniature theatre is called "The American Egyptian Hall" and a bit of romance in connection with it is the fact that the seats in it were taken from the old Kenton Opera House where Durbin first saw Hartz, Kellar, Hermann, and a dozen other old school magicians whose tricks he now performs as quickly and successfully as they ever did. In many instances he has improved upon them.

"Don't get the impression that I go in for spiritualism and all that kind of stuff," he said to me as we chatted along past the midnight hour in his stateroom on a fast moving transcontinental train. "I can do any of the tricks of the spiritualists from table rapping and table tipping on up to spirit writing. The Anna Eva Fay stuff is as simple as any of the tricks I do, when you know how it is done. I long ago learned the 'mysteries' of these modern sorcerers, and quickly learned that there is in reality no mystery about it. I take no stock in 'controls' as the mediums refer to those myths. It is all fake, all sham, all deception every trick I do, and every trick they do. It is in most instances a case of the hand being quicker than the eye.

"It is a matter of one brain working more rapidly than the other; it is merely deception. That is magic, from beginning to end. It is a wonderful study, there is no question about that, and it will serve to quicken the mind, brighten the powers of observation, steady the nerves and rest the entire body. Nothing offers more entertainment than the magic."

For years the Durbin home at Kenton has been the "Mecca" for magicians. Houdini, Thurston, Hermann, Kellar, Imroy, Fox, Powell, Laurant, Germane, and all the rest of the professionals have visited their friend Bill Durbin and profited. For such new tricks as he invents he quickly passes on to those who are adept in the art of magic, and who make their living by practicing it. On the walls of the little theater hang the autographed photos of every magician of note in the country, and Europe, a collection gathered over a period of twenty-five years.

The rich and valuable collection of books, magazines, and manuscripts treating upon ancient and modern necromancy and the "Black Art" also serves as a powerful magnet for the thousands of men who worship at the shrine of occultery.

A man past middle life, yet with the smile, freshness and face of youth, "Bill" Durbin has learned to play. He has discovered the secret of remaining young, while leading a life as strenuous as it has been successful. He has found solace in magic that nothing else can give. And when big problems come into his life as they constantly do, "Bill" Durbin faces them with the same calm, confident manner in which he faces an audience of admiring friends and neighbors in his little theater.

And the big problems of business and political life vanish, just as quickly, just as mysteriously as vanishes the little object he holds in his hand as he says "Now you see it, and now you don't."

THEATERS OFFER GOOD PROGRAM

New Productions Are Booked for the Present Week.

VOGEL'S MINSTRELS COMING

News of Plays Today at Various Lima Theaters.

LIMA movie managers offer an exceptionally interesting program for the ensuing week. At the Regent theater, Pauline Frederick will appear in "The Paliser Case," taken from probably one of the widest read books of recent years. Movie enthusiasts who have seen Miss Frederick in previous productions know of her exceptional ability, and she is said to exceed all of her other triumphs in this, her latest picture.

At the Faurot theater popular Wallace Reid will appear today and Monday, in one of his latest vehicles "Excuse My Dust."

"The Valley of Doubt" with an all star cast is the attraction at the Lyric theater, while other movie houses are also offering drawing attractions for today and the remainder of the week.

The coming of John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrel show to the Orpheum theater, Wednesday and Thursday, matinee and night offers a novelty too from the regular moving picture shown this summer.

Judging from press reviews of Willard Mack's story "The Valley of Doubt," a new Selznick picture recently produced, this picture tells one of the strongest stories of the season. The theme is as big as its background, the great Northwest. It is a tale of human interest and tense with the life of a man in the great lumber camp where the plot is laid.

The story tells how Marian Hillgrade, daughter of a wealthy and powerful lumber king, takes over the interests of the camp, in order to guard a wayward brother. Fate won for her the acquaintance of Jules Bonnavet, a French-Canadian, who proves the hero of the story. Into the story comes Annie, a little French girl and Jack Macy, a lumber camp manager. As usual, a love story is threaded thru the whole tale.

The above picture is filling a three days engagement at the Lyric theater, beginning Sunday.

The John W. Vogel's big City Minstrel show will open a two days engagement, matinee and night Wednesday this week at the Orpheum theater. The occasional visit of a minstrel show is a good thing for the theatergoer who is sometimes bored by the continuous movie plays during the summer season.

There is just newness about this show to please, and enough of the old time flavor to relieve it from any charge of iconoclasm.

Harry Houdini, known as one of the best daring acrobats in the country will appear in Arthur B. Reeves "Terror Island" the latter half of the week at the Faurot theater. Lila Lee and Rosemary Theby are among the stars in his cast. This picture will be shown Thursday and Saturday, and is said by critics to contain a thrill in every scene. "The Sins of the Children" is to be the main attraction of Sunday and Monday at the Royal theater. This picture from the pen of Cosmo Hamilton, enjoyed great success in New York and all of the large eastern cities. Many of the scenes deal with high life under the glare of the Great White Way. Temples of folly, oriental dance palaces, and the gayety of the lights of Broadway are presented in all of their original brilliancy and garishness.

The setting used in this production are among the most expensive ever constructed for recent pictures. The gowns worn by the women in the cast are extremely beautiful and lavish. One of the features of the picture, is the dance of the Four Seasons, given by Mile. Holabar, the famous Parisian dance queen.

A novel like "The Paliser Case" doesn't remain unscreened for any length of time. Shortly after it was published the Goldwyn company succeeded in acquiring the screen rights to the dramatic and powerful melodrama. Many Limatians will doubtless remember reading the novel in serial form in this newspaper a few months ago. It is now being presented the first half of this week at the Regent Theater.

Pauline Frederick takes the role of Cassy Cara, impoverished singer who married an old roue Monty Paliser, to secure medical aid and physical comfort for her invalid father. Most girls would choose as Cassy did, but many would not act as she did, when she discovered the marriage ceremony was a fake.

Keith Lennor, Cassy's real lover, her invalid father and Cassy herself all plan to kill Mont Paliser, but the mystery deepens when the three each shoulder the guilt for the crime. The conclusion of "The Paliser Case" after memorable scenes in the Metropolitan Opera House and New York police court, solves a mystery that is thrilling as well as baffling.

GOSSIP

John Emerson and Anita Loos are husband and wife. They will continue writing scenarios for Constance Talmadge under a new First National contract they have just signed. Their most recent picture for Miss Talmadge is "The Perfect Woman."

Charles Ray's latest picture will be "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" but it won't be released until the latter part of August.

Bull Montana plays the part of a human gorilla in his new picture "Go and Get It." He was nicknamed Bull because of his thick neck, heavy build and great strength.

Ben Turpin, Mack Sennett's star comedian is appearing in a new release, "Married Life." He is 46 years old, and played for a year with Charlie Chaplin.

Betty Blythe's latest vehicle is "Nomads of the North" a James Olive Curwood story.

"When Johnny Comes Marching Home" has been purchased by Ince for Douglas MacLean. The story was written by Charles Belmont Davis.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

CONDITIONS during the last week have shown very little change on the whole. The public is watching with interest the developments in the spreading "outlaw" mine strike which is threatening to cut coal production that fuel will be almost impossible to obtain this winter. Comparatively few have filled their bins and a strike of a general nature would have most serious effects.

Lima dealers are unable to secure coal, due to the low production and the shortage of cars, and what is received must be sold at a high price. The coming winter promises to see more families seeking quarters here where heat is furnished than ever before.

Those who are seeking to make capital out of their calamity howlings for political purposes are to be found going up and down the land endeavoring to make many believe that the country is going to the dogs. This, of course, is common of presidential election years, but all indications are that there is no need for worry and that we are rapidly getting on a more satisfactory basis.

Financial conditions continue unchanged with money tight. One encouraging sign is to be seen in the fact that while the Federal Reserve banks succeeded in diminishing credit only about $100,000,000 during the last month, inflation has been checked and questions are being asked as to the purpose of credit when loans are requested. Financial men of high standing are confident our credit system is sound and that there will be sufficient credit for all legitimate needs.

Predictions made some time ago that there would be more men than there were jobs in some lines is coming true, but in the main industry is suffering little. The sad condition of our transportation systems, which will right itself in time and thus is merely temporary, is responsible for many idle machines in some lines. Especially is this true in localities where congestion of freight is worst.

The uncertainty in mercantile lines which has existed for some time is gradually working itself out. While it appears certain that we have passed the crest of high prices, there can be no appreciable drop soon and prices for Fall will remain almost stationary. Wise buyers have helped themselves recently by taking advantage of the sales conducted here by merchants who over-bought for Spring and Summer and who were forced to unload their stock at prices far below what they will be several months hence.

This is a time for sane thinking and co-operation. It is not a time to lose confidence thru the propaganda of politicians and perpetual growers. Conditions are not getting worse in general, but better, and with work and level-headedness we will come out of the readjustment period in good season and without the bad effects any other plan would involve.

MISS LIMA: "Misery may love company, but it's got to be miserable company before it's acceptable."

YOUR WINTER FUEL—A PROBLEM

WHAT with car shortage, miners on strike for higher wages or working only part time and the fuel outlook generally discouraging, to say nothing of the apparent prospect of having to pay more than three times as much for gas the coming winter as is being paid now, Lima people have reason to be very much depressed concerning conditions next winter, unless something can be done to assure an adequate supply of coal and at more reasonable prices.

The very best—or rather the worst—outlook now is that it will be next to impossible to purchase coal next winter, at any price. That prediction is being made right now by men who keep in touch with the fuel situation. Therefore, it behooves everyone to take advantage of every opportunity to store away coal or other fuel for the coming winter season. It is now August 1st, and the chill days of fall will be here within a few weeks. Then it will be that those who have not provided fuel will be wishing they had.

According to predictions and the very outlook, coal will be more difficult to procure than ever before and the price will be higher. The warning to "make hay while the sun shines" in the matter of fuel cannot be sounded too loudly or too often. The injunction should be heeded by everyone.

Right now would be a good time for every man who is not employed, or who has spare time from his employment, to lay away for the winter's use anything and everything that will answer the purpose of fuel. On farms and wood lots in the Lima territory hundreds and perhaps thousands of cords of timber is going to decay, lying on the ground, that could easily be converted into firewood if the people generally would only realize the acute fuel situation ahead. Many farmers doubtless would be very glad to have anyone cut wood for them on "shares" or sell the "down" timber on their places at a very small price. By taking advantage of such opportunities, many families could be relieved of the danger of having to go thru part of the winter with insufficient coal or other fuel.

CHEER NEWS FOR HOME BREWERS

THOSE who have been more or less in the dark as to their right in concocting beverages at home will find their legal limitations defined in a recent ruling of the International Revenue Bureau covering home brew. This decision makes legal the manufacture of mild drinks such as cider, home brew of wines, etc., regardless of the rule of their containing one-half of one per cent of alcohol. The only regulation is they shall not be intoxicating and shall not be sold except to manufacturers of vinegar in the case of cider.

It is also understood that the home is to be free from visits by prohibition sleuths in their search for concealed liquors. This ruling will serve to free the minds of many who have made a batch of brew, but were uncertain as to it standing the test of Uncle Sam's prohibition requirements.

BEAVERDAM, LOCATION OF IMPORT-ANT TELEGRAPH TEST STATION

(BY JOSEPH A. BERNSTEIN)

San Francisco, Cal., never so much as heard of Beavertown, Ohio, while New York City, the metropolis of the nation, if it is aware of the fact that there is such a village in this country, doesn't even care a snap about it.

Yet either one of these cities realized the value of the little town of Beavertown to their welfare, they would probably inaugurate a campaign to make a city out of what is now a village.

Beavertown is one of the most important links in that electrical chain that just in the past few years has been completed between the two cities.

Beavertown makes it possible for New York to hear San Francisco and for San Francisco to hear New York, when the two fair cities of the seaboard would commune with each other.

Beavertown has a key to the situation. When it ever happens, that New York would call San Francisco, and San Francisco would call the seaboard, the key to the city on the Atlantic coast are not quite strong enough to make the conversation distinct, Beavertown takes the burden upon its shoulders, and the two cities are made to hear each other.

On the Lima-Findlay road that passes thru the village, and is so familiar to motorists of this vicinity, there is a little brick building just as one enters the town. Passers-by have been attracted by the continual clinking sounds that pour from the doors and windows of that building, even tho it has grown to be so customary for one to pass it. The usual remark is that "there's the Beavertown telephone exchange."

But in that building there is more at stake than just the little town of Beavertown. The village is not even located in that brick building.

That place, to the man who knows telephone and telegraph systems, is one of the most reliable, one of the most dependable, and one of the most important test stations that the American Telephone and Telegraph company maintains in this part of the country.

That little station is one of the connecting links on the great coast to coast long distance telephone wire, and it is the junction of the north and south and east and west trunk lines. That's how the station happened to be so located at Beavertown. It so happened that at this place, the two great trunk mains crossed.

And that too—is why San Francisco and New York ought to be interested in Beavertown.

At this station there are scores and scores of different kinds of instruments that work twenty-four hours of every day and every day of the week. And working over the instruments there are men at all hours of the day, in order that the telephone and telegraph systems of this country may be kept in perfect condition.

Thru this little building, press wires send their way; special contract wires carry the latest news; and other special reports, seek assurance that their tasks will be completed, and telephone calls from north and south and east and west are made to succeed in this mission.

Thousands of words each day go filtering thru the brick building, sent by telephone and some by telegraph, but there is never a moment during the entire twenty-four hours a day that the instruments are not working.

Should anything go wrong with any line that enters or leaves that little brick building, and there is a matter of the hour of the day or night, a force of expert men who have their headquarters at this place is rushed upon the job, and America waits only a moment until every part of it is put in communication with the others.

The testing work that is conducted by the men who work in the Beavertown station tells instantly when and where there is anything wrong with any part of the great system, and the trouble is taken care of without delay.

At this, like other institutions of its kind, there is a man at the head.

YOUR NAME

FLETCHER

VARIATIONS—Armsmith, Setter, Tippler, Flower.

RACIAL ORIGIN—English.

SOURCES—Trades.

Who says there is no romance in names? Many business men, manufacturers, merchants, manual workers, professional men of this modern age go busily about their daily occupations without a thought without even the knowledge that their family names are the last relics of what was once one of the mightiest industries of medieval England, and which today is obsolete.

The ancestors of the Fletchers, Armsmiths, Setters, Tipplers and Flowers were the backbone of the English nation in the middle ages, for they furnished her fighting forces with munitions, that deadliest weapon with which the English maintained their independence upon many a battlefield before the final development of the musket and the rifle.

The family name Armsmith is simply a contraction of "arrow-smith." The arrowsmith was he who made his living by fashioning arrow heads.

The Setters were those who set the heads upon the arrow shafts. Tipplers were craftsmen who sharpened the points after they had been set.

The Fletchers, (it was also spelled "fletcher" in those days) were those who affixed the feathers or "fledges" (from the same word which gives us both "feather" and "fledgeling") to the shafts. This was probably the process which required the greatest finesse, for the true flight of the arrow in those long shots for which the archers of old England were famous depended as much on the fletching as anything. The term "fletcher" also was used in the more general sense as embracing the entire craft of arrow makers. "Flo" was a familiar name for the arrow in those days, whence comes the name "Flower."

Tomorrow—Warren.

Altho it looks small in comparison to some of the mammoth electrical power houses in this country, the Beavertown test station, pictured above, has thousands of dollars of instruments within its walls. These instruments are vitally necessary to the perfection of the system.

Mr. W. A. Cutler, pictured in the lower right hand corner is at the head of the test and line department of the Beavertown station.

one who knows the entire works and one who can superintend the work of such an institution. At Beavertown there is W. A. Cutler, who handles a force of some twenty-five men who work in the test room of the station and on the line forces.

It is Cutler's duty to search out every little defect in the lines that pass thru his station and to have them remedied without delay. And the men who work with him, Cutler says, allow nothing to stand in the way of the service the users of the line must be given.

Storms hold no terrors for these guardians of the communication of the nation. No dangers stop them in their efforts to keep one part of the country in touch with another.

"The tornado that hit this vicinity on March 28 completely demoralized the service on the north and south lines," Cutler related in telling how loyal the telephone and telegraph workers are to their responsibilities. "Our men left the station shortly after the storm worked all night, all day and all the following night in order that temporary wires might be put up and service be resumed."

They quit when their work is done, declares Cutler.

The coast to coast line that runs thru the Beavertown test station gives the men there very little trouble. Telephone repeaters are maintained at this station that the sound might be amplified. It is entirely an electrical operation, yet should it get out of order, it would be up to the force at Beavertown to see to it that the communication between the two coast cities was restored.

So perfect is the system that regulates the telephone and telegraph communication of the country, that an earthquake occurring in Beavertown would not stop the service.

out, we haven't had anything to do here," Mayor Lewis declared, and he's satisfied too with the way things are turning out.

Beavertown enters to its farming district, but at the same time it does not overlook the telephone and telegraph test station, the one feature of the village.

COMMON PLEAS JUDGE

C. L. Fess, candidate for Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Allen county, Ohio, was born near Harrod, Ohio, March 2, 1866. He is the youngest of six sons of Henry Fess, deceased. He has four children and lives at 1040 West High Street, Lima, Ohio.

He worked his way thru school, taught for several years in Allen and Auglaize counties, graduated in law at O. N. U. in 1899, and has given the last twenty years of his life exclusively to the practice of law.

He has been a Democrat all his life and an active supporter of his party.

Mr. Fess has never been an office holder, and if people of Allen county see fit to make him their next Common Pleas Judge, they will have in him a Judge who will fearlessly discharge his whole duty, free from entanglements of any kind whatsoever, and without obligations to any faction, class or corporate or private interest and with no prejudice toward any person or persons connected with the administration of justice. In fact, a square deal for everybody.

Respectfully,

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE.

C. C. Arnold

This well known Allen-co. citizen, a resident of Jackson, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination of Commissioner and seeks the support of the adherents of his party in the August 10 primary, with the assurance that if he is nominated and elected, the best possible service will be rendered.

Mr. Arnold has spent his entire life on the farm and feels that he is qualified for the office he seeks. Due to illness in his family he has been unable to make a general canvass of the voters of the county, much as he has desired to do so. He wishes to assure every Democratic voter his inability to call upon them personally has been due to circumstances over which he has no control.

If nominated and elected, Mr. Arnold's creed will be: Honest and efficient service.

Having naturalized over 6,000 aliens chosen from 7,000 applicants during the past year, Judge James W. McCarthy of Jersey, will now take a well-earned rest.

The judge held the last naturalization hearing of the season when he admitted 100 foreigners to citizenship. It remained for the final session to furnish further evidence that the movies have become an important factor in the life of the country.

"What happened to Abraham Lincoln?" asked the judge of one applicant.

"He was killed in the movies," was the reply.

HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

Autobiography—30

Baby Must Exercise

I wonder who invented swaddling clothes and what he had against us babies. And my dad says it is extraordinary to find a doctor insisting on regular exercise for wee small babies that he has cut out and pasted up on the wall this extract from an article on rickets by Eric Pritchard, M. A., M. D. (Oxon), London, contributed to the New York Medical Journal:

"Want of exercise, as, for instance, by the limitation of muscular activities such as those concerned in playing, kicking, rolling, walking, etc." (Dad says he would have used the word hollering and crying in place of etc., had he been writing the article) "will also predispose to the same result (rickets)."

In fact, muscular exercise is the one great prophylactic against the rickets. Unfortunately, in the majority of cases of malnutrition, which terminate in rickets, active exercise is limited owing to nervous depression, muscular degeneration and muscular debility, but none the less every opportunity to ensure free exercise must be provided for all healthy infants. No matter how correctly fed, or how good the other hygienic conditions, infants who are swaddled up in tight clothing so that movement of the limbs is restricted, invariably become rickety unless the diet is correspondingly reduced."

Far from permitting the baby to obtain regular daily exercise, too many parents attempt to prevent exercise. If the baby whoops it up to strengthen his lungs and better oxygenate his blood, some parents want to feed him dope to make him keep quiet. Then, too, some mothers seldom address the baby and allow him a half hour of freedom from clothes, while he rolls and kicks about the bed or on the floor, enjoying his brief respite from suffocative confinement. Every baby should have at least half an hour of exercise as natural every day.

Father or mother should encourage the baby to grasp fingers or a broomstick and bang by his hands, push palm against his feet; and otherwise play gently with him without tickling him or exciting him or tiring him out. It is a sin and a shame to allow the baby to lie constantly wrapped in swaddling clothes like some lifeless thing.

NEW FALL SKIRTS ARE OF PLAID OR CHECKED WOOL IN PLAITED MODELS

Skirts promise to be as interesting this fall as they have been this summer, and that is saying a great deal. Plaid and checks are to continue popular with a few loud stripes to keep them company. Of course the importance of the separate skirt has made the blouse take on a new importance and we find even the overblouse has a new and interesting development. It is the tailored or semi-tailored models designed for wear with these plaid skirts and with business suits.

Here is a very smart outfit which features one of these tailored over-blouses and a large velvet check skirt made with accordion pleats.

Miss Myla E. Miller delightedly entertained a number of friends at a birthday party at her home on E.
Market-st. Wednesday afternoon.
The first of the afternoon was spent at Lincoln Park and later the guests returned to the Miller home where music and dancing was enjoyed and in a clever contest Miss Lillian Marks and Miss Cleta Feaster were the successful contestants. At 5 o'clock the guests were seated at six small tables arranged in the dining room, where a delicious luncheon was served. Bowls of lavender and white sweet peas centered the tables and the appointments were in lav-endar. Miss Miller received a number of attractive gifts.

The guests included: Misses Lillian Marks, Frances Greibling, Hazel Leffler, Cleta Feaster, Bernice Miller, Ruth Schlotter, Helen Miller,
Anna Wilkins, Messrs. Frank Ward,
Herbert Luginbuhl, Edward Bace-hill, Claude Boals, Harry DeBoe, Robert Bodell, Gerald Rink, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller and Mrs. C. P.
Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Chisman were entertained a most delightful surprise at their home on N. McDonell-st. Tuesday evening. A picnic dinner was enjoyed, after which the remainder of the evening was devoted to music and cards.

Those enjoying the affair were:
Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shippe, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs.

peace time activities thru this one dollar membership and every Red Cross Nurse, every Home Service Section, every First Aid class and all other forms of the work make this membership support. All these divisions have been doing yeoman service in Allen county.

The Visiting
Nurse division now creating all over the world Health Centers is of itself one of the most wonderful accomplishments of the great charity. Mrs. J. B. Polling at the head of this section, with Mrs. Frank Mead in charge of the excellent work of the junior Red Cross have eased the pain and made lighter the burdens of many who would otherwise have had no medical attention. Mrs.
Irene Mills Jackson directing the work of the Home Service section has also made a great record.

Chapter representatives will be cal-

SOCIAL TIDE RETARDED BY HEAT

Mid-Summer Inactivity in Social and Philanthropic Affairs Rules

Informal Events at Shawnee Country Club Source of Pleasure

MID-SUMMER has arrived and with it, a lull in all activities, social and philanthropic.

At this season of the year club and society women feel as free as ten year old children; no dressmaking appointments, committee meetings, concerts or charity benefits.

Almost everyone is enjoying the same spirit of happiness during these days of absence of plans. There are numerous diversions but few booked-ahead appointments.

Informal parties at the Shawnee Country club is a source of pleasure that may be decided upon at the last instant. Bridge-luncheons, arranged in compliment to transient guests, are marked by an utter lack of conventionality that frequently mars such entertainments at any other time of the year.

Presidents of prominent clubs, who ordinarily go around with a pucker of worry between their eyes, are enjoying absolute irresponsibility. School teachers have forgotten discipline and "correct method."

The children, whether at summer resorts or at home, are growing bigger, browner and healthier every day of vacation.

Philanthropic organizations have not paused in their good work, but new ideas for advancement, which were not completed earlier in the summer are being held up until fall.

Many of the members of these societies are out of town and those who are here realize the uselessness of endeavoring to arouse the city to an intense interest in anything.

Early in September, engagements and duties and "pop" will reign again, but at this time, most of Lima is unhurried, unworried, at ease.

WIFE SAYS SHE ASKS
HUSBAND—ASKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Eva J. Pratt, 516 S. Main-st., is in constant fear of her husband, Robert Pratt, she alleges in an action for divorce, started against him Saturday.

She secured an injunction in court, preventing him from calling upon her in her home, or interfering with her in the control and management of her property.

They were married in January,
1909, and have no children. Mrs.
Pratt charges her husband assaulted and threatened to kill her. She asks his dower in her property, a lot in Ada and certain furniture and household goods she says she owns,
be barred by the court.

WINEGARDNER REUNION
The 15th annual reunion of the Winegardner family will be held at the Faurot park August 7th. L. J.
Winegardner is chairman of the gi-fair. All friends and relatives are cordially invited.

Collins Safety Razor

Wow!!

Your Face After a Shave

How to make it feel fine

After a shave, does your whole face sting and feel cracked? Then try the Collins razor with the in-built diagonal stroke. The straight stroke means torture; the diagonal stroke means joy.

The straight stroke hits all hairs at exactly the same angle. And no two hairs have roots growing at exactly the same angle. So nearly the whole beard is shaved against the grain. And the long roots are jerked and twisted in their layers of flesh.

Scientists said: "The razor must stroke down and sideways, or up and sideways, at the same time. It must stroke diagonally at each separate hair. Thus it will follow the line of least resistance, and never go against the grain!"

But to learn how to do this with the ordinary hoe-type razor, you must practice hard eleven months. Then it will take one hour and twenty-five minutes for each diagonal shave.

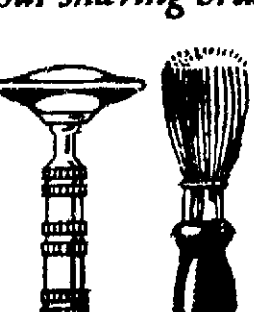

We solved the problem by building the diagonal stroke into the razor. We made a round blade of super temper, protected by a guard that keeps the skin taut. The round blade cuts down and sideways, or up and sideways. Each hair is shaved off quickly at its point of least resistance.

There is no pull or scrape. It's a three minute shave. Your face feels fine. And you are glad. The demand is great, the supply is short. So order a Collins now.

Special "Try-It" Offer

If made you nothing to prove the correctness of the Collins principle of building the diagonal stroke into the razor, instead of making you learn it. You go to your dealer and get a Collins Safety Razor. You take it home and shave ten times with it. Then if you are not positive these shaves are the pleasantest, the quickest, the easiest you ever enjoyed, bring the Collins back to the dealer and he will return your money.

MUTT AND JEFF—JEFF SPREADS THE BOOST-DOPE ON A LITTLE TOO THICK—

Short Shavings

Mrs. Sutton advertised for a woman to do general housework, and in answer a colored girl called, announcing that she had come for the position.

"Are you a good cook?" asked Mrs. Sutton.

"No, indeed, I don't cook," was the reply.

"Are you a good laundress?"

"I wouldn't do washin' and ironin'; it's too hard on the hands."

"Can you sweep?" asked Mrs. Sutton.

"No," was the positive answer.

"I'm not strong enough."

"Well," said the lady of the house quite exasperated, "may I ask what you can do?"

"I dusts," came the placid reply.

—Everybody's Magazine.

The meeting was interrupted by the entrance of one who made his way to the platform and whispered excitedly to the chairman.

"Is Mr. Smith in the audience?" broke forth the presiding officer.

"I am informed that his house is afire."

Forty men sprang to their feet.

"It is the house of Mr. John Smith," added the chairman.

"Thank goodness," fervently exclaimed one man, resuming his seat.

The governor of Maine was at the school and was telling the pupils what the people of different states were called. "Now," he said, "the people from Indiana are called 'Hoosiers'; the people from North Carolina 'Tar Heels'; the people from Michigan we know as 'Michiganers'. Now what, little boy or girl can tell me what the people of Maine are called?"

"I know," said a little girl.

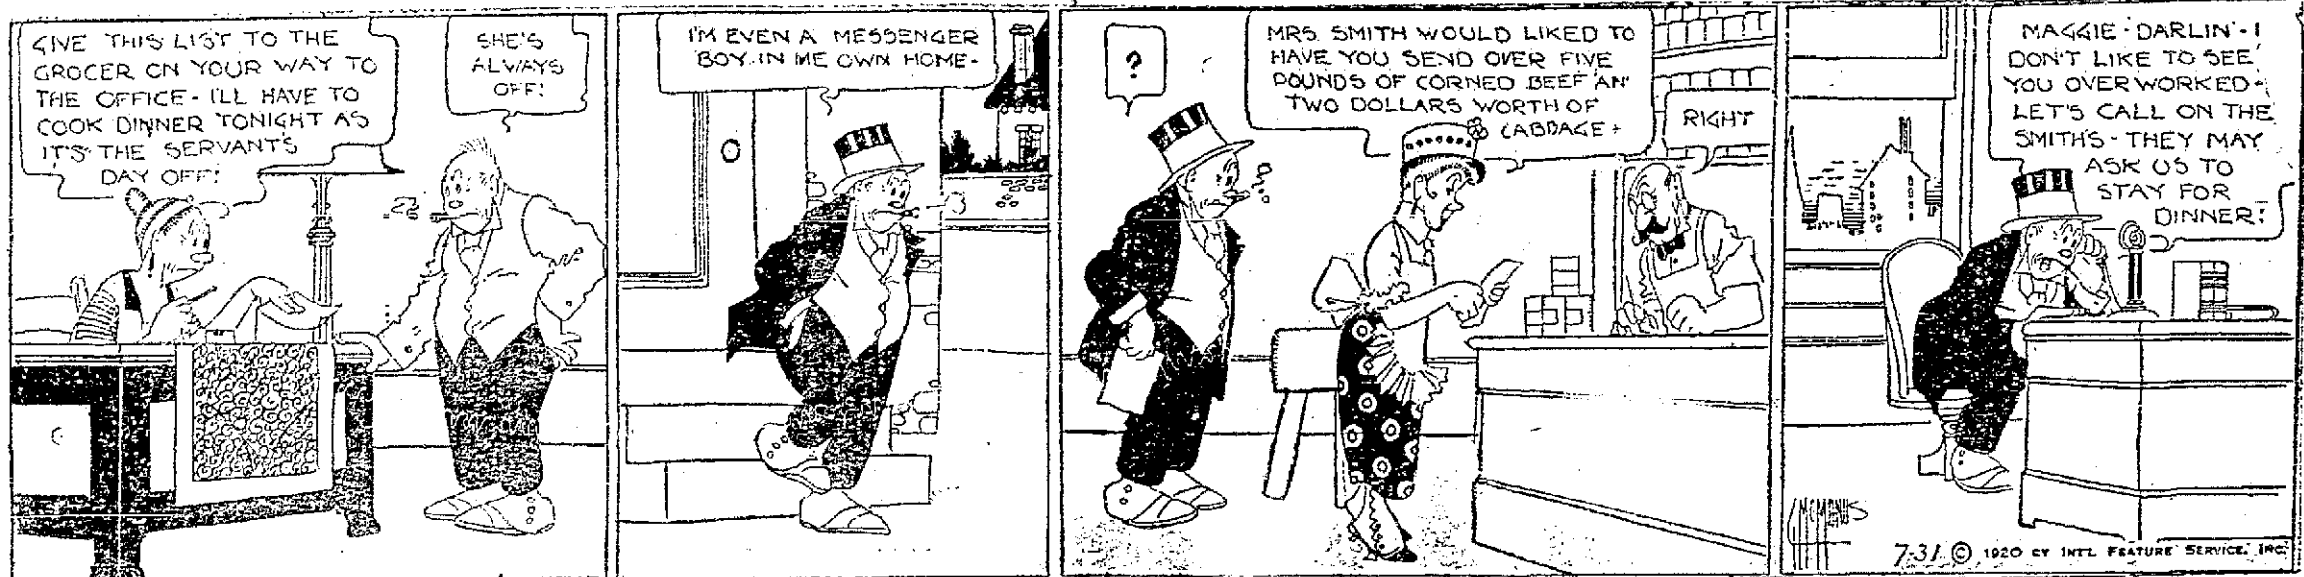

"Well, what are we called?" asked the governor.

"Maniacs."
